Bridge rises but hope fades

Toll touches 256; Army opens Bailey bridge to restore connectivity

THE Army on Thursday evening opened the 190-ft-long Bailey bridge at Chooralmala that could help speed up the search operations at upstream Mundakkai and Punjirimattom villages but hopes of finding more survivors at the landslide-hit areas in Wayanad faded on Day 3 of rescue efforts.

Kerala CM Pinarayi Vijayan, who visited the affected areas on Thursday, said all survivors in Mundakkai have been rescued, indicating there is little hope of finding more people alive.

During the day, search teams sifted through the rubble braving heavy rains and recovered seven more bodies, taking toll in the devastating tragedy to 256. Over 200 persons are still missing. The government tally, as given by Revenue Minister K Rajan, however, is 189.

"The debris at Punjirimattom and Mundakkai has piled up like a mountain. Most houses have been completed destroyed. The search and restoration efforts will be daunting and time-consuming, which would take more than a week," an official at the Control Room said. As per preliminary assessment, 348 houses were damaged in the landslides.

The pace of search operations at Mundakkai and Punjirimattom, which were cut off following the collapse of the bridge at Chooralmala, was slow till now because excavators could not cross the river. With the construction of the Bailey bridge, now heavy trucks carrying excavators and other equipment can reach the affected areas. On Thursday, four excavators were deployed in Chooralmala, three at Mundakkai and three at Punjirimattom, which remained inaccessible till Wednesday.

"Different batches of Army, Navy, NDRF and Fire Force officials are deployed at the affected areas. Besides, several volunteer groups are also active. Over 5,000 people are engaged in the search operation alone," said an official.

Meanwhile, Leader of the Opposition in LS Rahul Gandhi and Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra visited the landslide-affected areas at Chooralmala on Thursday. P4,5

Sub-classification of SCs by states valid, rules top court

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

A seven-judge Supreme Court bench in a landmark ruling on Thursday empowered states to sub-classify groups within the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (SC/STs) to uplift the more socially and economically backward among them for reservation benefits.

The majority 6:1 verdict set aside a 2004 judgment by a five-judge bench in the E V Chinnaiah case, which had held that sub-classification was not permissible because SC/STs form homogenous classes.

But the 6:1 ruling said the SCs are heterogeneous. However, sub-classification can be done only on the basis of quantifiable and demonstrable data of backwardness and representation in government jobs and not on whims or political expediency, the bench said. P5,10

Big-hitters gone, Swapnil shoots for stars

AT the shooting ranges, Swapnil Kusale recedes into a cocoon and blocks himself off from the noise. On Thursday, when the shooting final was on at the Chateauroux shooting centre, Swapnil shut himself from the outside world.

The competition was intense and Swapnil was see-sawing; sixth, fourth, third, second and third in the 50 m rifle 3-position final. There is no place for emotion in shooting. The heart needs to keep still and that's what Swapnil did while securing India one more bronze at the Olympics. He was hearing the PA system but did not pay heed to where he was positioned. The fifty-odd Indian supporters were cheering him on. "I did not pay attention to what the MC was saying. But I could hear the Indian fans shouting and I shifted my attention to that. And I said I don't want to disappoint them. I will have to win for them," he said after the bronze. This is India's first 3-position medal in the Olympics. P15

Ministers advise guv to withdraw notice against CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOR the first time in the history of Karnataka, the Council of Ministers (CoM) at its meeting on Thursday, "advised" the Governor to withdraw a show-cause notice issued to the Chief Minister, while rejecting the petition seeking permission to prosecute the latter.

The CoM did this in relation with the alleged irregularities in the Mysore Urban Development Authority (MUDA) which allotted Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathi 14 sites in a prime location in Mysuru. This has raised a hue and cry in the opposition, which has demanded Siddaramaiah's resignation.

Governor Thaawar Chand Gehlot issued a show-cause notice to the CM on July 26, based on a petition filed by activist TJ Abraham on the same day.

The meeting was chaired by DCM DK Shivakumar in the absence of Siddaramaiah, who recused himself as the agenda involved a petition against him and his family members. P4

PALIKE NETS ₹3K CR PROPERTY TAX FROM APRIL 1 TO JULY 31

Girinath says notices will be issued under BBMP Act to tax defaulters from now on

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said on Thursday that from April 1 to July 31, the Palike collected property taxes amounting to Rs 3,065 crore for 2023-24.

He told reporters here that compared to the same period last year, the Palike collected Rs 600 crore more. July 31 was the deadline to clear tax dues under the extended One Time Settlement (OTS) scheme.

According to Palike 's revenue officials, Rs 380.63 crore has been collected under the OTS scheme from 1.14 lakh defaulters.

Girinath said, "Around the same time last year, Rs 2,457.30 crore was collected. This year, the palike collected Rs 3,065.82 crore. The revenue increased after the Palike announced the OTS scheme to nearly four lakh tax defaulters. A survey helped the Palike to detect 16,904 property owners paying less taxes under various slabs. This resulted in the collection of Rs 163.13 crore from 6,723 property owners."

He said notices will be issued under the BBMP Act to tax defaulters from now on. If they do not comply, the palike can seize their movable assets and also attach them. "This has been possible due to changes in the norms. We have a chance of collecting more taxes this year," he added.

The officials said the Palike received around Rs 150 crore through demand drafts and cheques and this amounted to Rs 3,200 crore tax collection.

Asked if the OTS will be extended as many defaulters could not pay taxes due to heavy rain and software issues, Girinath said, "If we consider the rush since Tuesday, it appears they have become aware of it. Our software was slow. We will see how many more are yet to clear their dues and look into the demands of resident welfare associations and seek a report from the Palike 's revenue department. The report will be submitted to the government."

The commissioner said the palike is ready to collect relief items and stock them at the Glass House for those affected by landslides in the state and in Kerala's Wayanad. People can transfer money to the Palike 's bank accounts, he added. He said the officials held discussions recently with representatives of the World Bank in Delhi on loans for various projects in the city. They are preparing to send a report and later sign agreements with the bank.

Buildings over 5K sqm to set up two EV charging points

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ALL residential and commercial buildings spread over 5,000 square metres, or consuming 250kW or more, will have to install at least two charging points for electric vehicles (EVs).

This is part of the Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) order issued on Wednesday to streamline installation of EV charging stations in residential and commercial spaces in the state. The order came into effect on Thursday (August 1).

The order also stated that individual apartment dwellers can apply for new connections to charge their vehicles, the charges for which have already been fixed by KERC at Rs 4.50 per kWH.

Addressing concerns raised by consumers over installation of charging units, the KERC order said distribution licensees can install charging stations, and the individual connection for each EV charging station should be up to 150kW under Low Tension (LT) connections.

The consumers or associations installing EV charging infrastructure or charging points/stations in common areas of existing or new buildings should obtain due sanction from the government authorities concerned. The meters for these connections should be housed in the existing or new metering panels, the KERC order said.

It also stated that individual flat owners or consumers installing EV charging units can either connect the units to their existing sanctioned load or choose to take a new connection under the EV charging tariff category.

Sources in KERC said multiple grievances were raised during public grievance meetings, which were being redressed. Citizens can now install independent connections or call a third party agency to instal community charging stations. "In the order, we have also given apartment complexes the opportunity to install a bank of charging stations where outsiders can also be permitted to charge their EVs, and pay accordingly," a KERC official explained.

Flooded airport road hits traffic to and from KIA

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE massive waterlogging on New Airport Road at Chikkajala severely inconvenienced the public heading to and coming from the Kempegowda International Airport to the city on Thursday evening. A stretch of nearly 1 km witnessed traffic heading at a snail's pace for nearly two hours, from 6.30 pm. The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) and the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL), which is carrying out construction work for its Airport Line here, blamed each other for the mess.

Pratikh Simha, who was heading to his house in Yelahanka from the airport told TNIE, "Vehicles were inching towards the city, right after the Sadahalli toll gate near the airport was crossed. There was major flooding, leading to a traffic pile-up for quite a distance."

The KR Puram to KIA Line built by BMRCL passes via Chikkajala.

Cars slowly make their way on the New Airport Road, near Chikkajala, which got waterlogged, causing hurdles for traffic movement, in Bengaluru on Thursday

A traffic police source claimed that the debris left behind by BMRCL, which is carrying out construction activities, was responsible for it. "Waterlogging occurred at Kote Cross at 6.30 pm and the water was stagnant there until 8.30 pm. The debris of Metro construction work is not removed, which then blocks nearby drains completely. We had to call up both BMRCL, as well as NHAI authorities, and ask them to clear the blockage urgently," the source said.

A Metro source said their men and machinery rushed to the spot and cleared the water. "It is not only this spot, but also another one at Vidyanagar Cross along the stretch, which suffers such blockages whenever it rains heavily. It is faulty construction by NHAI. There are outlets at both these places and the rain water does not go through them. The problem happens frequently, and we have repeatedly asked NHAI to do something about it. They say the proposal to improve it is pending with their head office."

BMRCL did rush to the spot with men and machinery and work was on to clear the waterlogging, he reiterated.

An NHAI source in turn pinned the blame on BMRCL. "BMRCL work here has completely damaged all the drains. The pillars being built here are the reason for it. We have even entered into an MoU with them recently that all the drains need to be restored by them after their construction work is completed," he mentioned.

BDA should fix allottees' issues: MLA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH BDA gearing up to invite applications for the allotment of plots in Dr Shivaram Karanth Layout, former minister and BJP leader Suresh Kumar on Thursday said the agency "should first allot sites in Shivaram Karanth Layout to BDA's site allotment victims".

"I noticed through the media that BDA is gearing up to invite applications from citizens for allotment of plots. I would like to draw your attention to the issue of plot allotment in Banashankari 6th Stage Layout, which is Turahalli forest area. It was a designated forest buffer zone about 20 years ago in 2003-2004, and today more than 1,500 site allottees have not been able to construct their houses because of the standoff between the forest department and BDA," he said. "The BDA and forest department have not been able to discuss and come to an agreement on the ownership of the land."

He said that similarly, owners of more than 5,000 plots in BDA layouts like Banashankari 6th Stage, Arkavathy Layout, Visvesvaraya Layout and Anjanapura are unable to construct houses as they are not in actual possession of their land.

Complete pending projects soon, BDA told

BDA chairman NA Haris on Thursday inspected the BDA villa project at Hunnigere. He called for its timely completion. A release said, "The chairman inspected the villas. He asked the Authority to develop the garden, swimming pool and club house in a much better manner." Haris also inspected common amenity sites at Dasarahalli, besides the Malleswaram market and ordered completion of the floor and the parking lot within a month.

DEDICATE ONE PERIOD FOR READING, SCHOOLS TOLD

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a bid to inculcate a strong habit of reading books outside of the curriculum, the Department of School Education and Literacy (DSEL) has directed all schools in the state to have a fixed library period once a week, during which students can access the school libraries and develop a hobby. This will apply to all students from Classes 1 to 10 in the state.

Under the programme 'Reading Habits and Knowledge Development', the students should have access to various genres such as fiction, non-fiction, folklore, poetry and comics. Earlier, library periods were included in the timetable depending on the school infrastructure, however, the department has now made it compulsory for all state board schools.

"Reading will improve children's vocabulary, fluency, comprehension, concentration, language and creative writing. It also develops intellectual skills such as critical thinking, reasoning, analytical ability, summarising, imagination, creativity, and empathy," the circular read.

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

The department highlighted that schools must use library grants given annually by Samagra Shikshana Karnataka (SSK) and grants available under Reading Room (RR) funds collected by the students. "Using these grants, libraries must purchase quality reading materials for children during the academic year. DSEL has recommended a list of quality books for primary, senior primary and high schools. Schools can select and purchase the required books," the circular stated.

School teachers have also been directed to help students in Classes 1 to 5 by conducting reading activities and aiding them to grow as independent readers. Teachers can read the story with gestures for easy understanding, peer reading – encouraging students to read in a group and organising post-reading activities depending on the short stories for lower classes. For senior classes, students should be allowed to pick their own books and hold discussions in the class.

The department issued a tentative library period for different grades, replacing periods such as radio or other vocational skills, once a week.

PETER VIDAL

02nd August: Virgo is my sign of the day, so it's time to pay this wonderful sign the attention it deserves. Virgoan people have a reputation for being hard-working and efficient. If you know a Virgo really well you'll see that, deep inside, they're rather insecure and they need applause and appreciation - and that's why you need to pamper them.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Something is not quite right in your business or financial life, but losses or mysteries are temporary. The best advice in this, and similar matters, is never to jump to conclusions, but always to go back and check that you have got your facts straight.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
From your current planetary picture it is clear that there are genuine and well-founded hopes of an increase in earnings, probably as a result of a great deal of thankless effort you put in the past. Don't expect the heavens to open and shower you with good luck. The world doesn't work like that, so make your own fabulous fortune!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You must keep other people sweet, for you never know when you might need them. Actually, social confidence should be one of your gifts at the moment and it is also exactly what partners require, for if they are to be truthful they will admit that they've not been as happy as they could have been.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Feelings are funny things - as you know only too well. There are certain times of the month when you should feel free to be overwhelmed by emotion without explaining yourself or justifying your actions. This is one such moment. If partners do demand reasons, answer them in riddles!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Your personal affairs should be more important than professional commitments. Even if you are absolutely forced to go to work or clear up after other people, you should see to it that life reflects what you want rather than what society dictates - within reason, of course!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
This is one of those days when you might well receive significant news from the past. Some people think it is bad to have one's opinions and actions shaped by what happened long ago, but right now this is probably necessary. After all, the past is ever present!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Self-confidence is your most important quality at the moment. Any bright idea at work is likely to bring the money rolling in, probably in quite unexpected ways, any time over the next three months. It's difficult to make firm plans, but that's as true for partners as for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Conflicts, criticism and pressures at work or in public matters will soon ease, but only after there have been several other major developments. What seems to be exceptionally powerful at the moment is a sense that cash rewards are more important than gratitude. Oh, and an employer should put their money where their mouth is!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
If it pleases you, keep something very important to yourself. There is no reason at all why you shouldn't have your secrets. In love you should still allow partners to take the initiative, partly because it really looks as if they have some of the best ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You won't lose face now if you seek support over private affairs. In fact, you should be relieved when partners show themselves capable of looking at the facts, rather than taking a personal and emotional stand. You see, your feelings might make sense to you, but not to others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Have a last emotional stab at a particular professional venture. If you're involved in a community enterprise, you must realise that others will not share your beliefs. In love, enjoy any opportunity to be thoroughly sloppy and sentimental - and to indulge your desires.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It is a fact that other people provide a very useful anchor by which you attach yourself to the 'real' world. So, do yourself a favour and find suitable allies today, but realise that the lure of foreign parts is still strong. You must do something to satisfy your adventurous yearnings!

THE Karnataka High Court on Thursday reserved its order on the petition filed by the SIT, CID, challenging the bail granted by a trial court to JDS MLA HD Revanna on May 13, in connection with the kidnapping of a victim of rape allegedly involving his son, former Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna.

Justice M Nagaprasanna reserved the order after hearing arguments made by Special Public Prosecutor Prof Ravivarma Kumar, representing SIT, and senior counsel CV Nagesh, on behalf of Revanna, who was booked by KR Nagar police in Mysuru district, based on the complaint filed by a victim. Prof Ravivarma Kumar, assisted by Additional State Public Prosecutor B N Jagadeesha, argued that the chargesheet had been filed by SIT on July 29 against the accused, supported by forensic evidence, for alleged involvement in the kidnap of the victim. The chargesheet indicates that the victim was abducted at the instance of the accused, and hence 364A of the IPC was invoked against him. The FSL report and mahazar report confirmed hair samples found in the farmhouse of accused No.7, where the victim was kept under illegal detention, matched with the victim's hair. Without considering materials found during the investigation, the trial court granted bail to the accused arbitrarily, he argued.

Nagesh argued that the plea for quashing the bail order and cancellation of bail granted, needs to be looked at on a different footing. Cancellation of bail can be sought when the accused threatened witnesses, tampered with evidence or for violation of any other conditions imposed while granting bail. However, no such violations are found in this case. Even invoking Section 364A of IPC against the accused for abduction is not permissible as there was no deceit or demand of ransom behind alleged kidnap of the victim. Hence, the petition is liable to be dismissed, he argued.

45-year-old man dies sitting on bench in busy area, noticed next day by local

BENGALURU: The corpse of a 45-year-old man went unnoticed for almost a day in Bagalagunte on Tumakuru road. The man reportedly died while being seated on a stone bench next to the Indira Canteen on Wednesday. Passersby mistook him to be sleeping. Since he was in the same sitting posture, a local tried to wake him up, only to realise that he was dead. The Bagalagunte police have registered a case of unnatural death, and suspect the victim to have died from excessive drinking. The victim is identified as a labourer named Shivalingaiah, a resident of Manjunathanagar. While at work on Wednesday afternoon, he felt uneasy and took a break. He went for lunch and sat on the bench next to the canteen. He is suspected to have breathed his last in the afternoon. "The victim is alleged to be an alcoholic. Despite having a family, he never went home, preferring to sleep near the construction site. The body has been sent to Victoria Hospital's mortuary for postmortem. We are awaiting the report to ascertain the exact cause of death," said an officer.

WORLD BREASTFEEDING WEEK

State aims to reduce neonatal mortality rate to 9 per 1K live births

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

IN a bid to reduce the neonatal mortality rate in the state, the Karnataka Health Department has revised several plans, including extending ASHA worker care visits to 15 months from the previous 42 days, to continuously monitor the growth and development of the baby. In acute cases, post-discharge screening for vision and hearing will also be conducted to identify and manage sensory impairments early, and community-level post-discharge care will be provided to ensure timely referrals and support tailored to local needs, department sources said.

Currently, seven city hospitals are equipped with neonatal intensive care units (NICUs), including Bowring Hospital, Vanivilas Hospital, and KC General Hospital, among others. A baby is placed in an NICU when it needs specialised care. This typically occurs in cases such as prematurity, birth complications, low birth weight, or infections.

According to 2020 data, the neonatal mortality rate in Karnataka was 14 per 1,000 live births. The department now aims to reduce this rate to 9 per 1,000 live births. Below the target rate, experts highlight that despite medical interventions, in conditions like immaturity of vital organs, 'anencephaly' where a baby is born without a brain or skull, or severe heart defects, or extreme prematurity, where the child is born before the viability threshold – around 22-24 weeks of pregnancy, can result in fatalities.

Noting that neonatal fatalities often happen due to complications like prematurity, birth asphyxia (occurs when a newborn does not receive enough oxygen before, during, or immediately after birth), infections, and congenital anomalies, the department revised certain measures in the Home-Based Young Child Care (HBYC) practices.

Dr Basavaraj B Dhabadi, Deputy Director of Child Health at Department of Health and Family Welfare explained that to prevent neonatal fatalities, critical measures are being taken, including regular visits to monitor the health of the baby, and to detect and address any potential complications early.

He added that starting from this World Breastfeeding Week (first week of August), early initiation of breastfeeding, which involves starting it within the first hour after birth, is emphasised as a critical practice. Dr Dhabadi also mentioned that experts are instructed to ensure that breastfeeding begins within the crucial time-frame. If a mother is unable to initiate breastfeeding within an hour or if a newborn is unable to latch on, healthcare facilities will support the infant with extracted mother's own milk (MOM) to ensure that the baby receives the essential nutrients.

Unable to bear hubby's harassment, 17-yr-old mother ends life

ENS @ Bengaluru

A 17-year-old mother of an 11-month-old baby has died by suicide, unable to bear alleged harassment from her 21-year-old husband. The Gangammanagudi police, who have registered a case under the POCSO Act, Child Marriage Act, and Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, have arrested the husband.

The police said the victim took the extreme step around 8 pm on Tuesday, after sending her husband, Koushik -- a crane operator – out of the house. The incident came to light after her son's continuous crying attracted a neighbour, Satish, who suspected something amiss. When he went to the victim's house and looked in through a window, he found her hanging and immediately broke open the door and brought her down, but found her dead.

When in Class 10, the victim reportedly befriended Koushik on Instagram. She was staying at a hostel in Kammagondanahalli then. They then personally met and decided to marry. This was in 2022. However, her father was against the marriage. But the victim went ahead with her plan. The wedding was not solemnised at any temple or in the presence of family members; the couple exchanged vows in front of a deity's picture at home. Even after the wedding, the victim continued her studies and later dropped out of college in her first PUC, after she conceived.

Meanwhile, it is learnt that Koushik allegedly began harassing his wife soon after the wedding. The harassment continued even after she delivered, since the victim sought his financial assistance in looking after her child. She did not find any support from her other family members too. It is learnt that after the wedding, the victim had already attempted suicide twice.

The accused was produced before the court on Thursday.

'Cybersecurity Policy 2024' aims at skill-building, PPPs, tech integration

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AFTER much deliberations, the state government on Thursday launched "Cybersecurity Policy 2024" with a focus on raising awareness and skill-building, public-private partnerships (PPPs) and technology integration.

This policy has been drafted jointly by the Department of Electronics, IT, BT and Science and Technology, the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms (e-Governance), and the Home Department, in consultation with stakeholders from the government and private sectors.

The government is looking at releasing Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) to tackle and prevent cyberattacks.

In all, Rs 103.87 crore will be allocated for five years. Of which, Rs 23.74 crore will go towards incentives and concessions. Under the policy, the department has announced an internship programme for 600 undergraduate and 120 postgraduate students. A stipend of Rs 10,000-Rs15,000 per month will be provided. This is aimed at introducing a skilled workforce in the domain.

Speaking after unveiling the policy, Priyank Kharge, Minister, IT-BT and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj, said, "Bengaluru is the fourth largest tech cluster in the world. This policy aims at creating a robust cyber ecosystem in the country. Over 1,400 government services are provided through various portals.

Having said that, the highest financial frauds in the country also happen in Karnataka with Bengaluru in the top position, followed by Mandya. Keeping this in mind, a lot of awareness and skill development is needed."

He said, "The government is ready to collaborate and provide a talented workforce. We want to skill local for global."

PACT WITH CISCO

To address the growing demand for cybersecurity professionals, Karnataka has signed an MoU with Cisco to train 40,000 individuals in cybersecurity skills and awareness. Of them, 50% will be women. This is to diversify the cybersecurity workforce and promote equal opportunities within the tech sector. The Cisco skilling programme will have three parts. CyberOps Associate (CA) for graduates and final year students, providing in-depth knowledge and practical skills to become proficient in cybersecurity operations. Cybersecurity essentials will train in foundational cybersecurity knowledge, and the third Training of Trainers (ToT) that will equip college lecturers with the expertise to train students in advanced cybersecurity concepts.

The Centre of Excellence (COE) Cyber Security (CYSEC), in collaboration with the Indian Institute of Science (IISc), will implement key initiatives.

Offering relief to cyber-related R&D projects which are driven by Karnataka-based start-ups and in collaboration with Karnataka-based academic institutes, the government will either provide 50% of the grant for research or bear the cost of up to Rs 50 lakh. Another key highlight of the policy is the IT-BT Department will provide reimbursement of cost up to Rs 1 lakh towards engagement of Karnataka-based, CERT-In empanelled service providers registered with Karnataka Start-up Cell for cyber security audit.

The policy has two parts. The first will focus on building a strong cyber security ecosystem for the public, academia, industry, start-ups and the government. The second aims at strengthening the cyber security posture of the state's IT assets.

During the meeting, industry stakeholders highlighted sector-specific intelligence for cyber domains such as diagnostics, blockchain, manufacturing and more.

Cabinet resolution sparks govt-Raj Bhavan conflict

CM, cabinet say political vendetta behind Guv's showcause notice

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

WITH the state cabinet passing a resolution on Thursday advising Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot to withdraw the notice issued to CM Siddaramaiah over the alleged irregularities in allotment of sites by MUDA, the conflict between the state government and the Raj Bhavan has just begun, according to political analysts.

This conflict may also have constitutional and legal ramifications, the analysts said.

The issue may not die down anytime soon with the CM and his cabinet colleagues alleging political vendetta behind the governor's move and the BJP-JDS alliance firm on taking out a padayatra from Bengaluru to Mysuru after both Houses were adjourned sine die a few days ago, they said.

It became a hot topic of debate at the national-level with Siddaramaiah skipping the cabinet meeting held to pass the resolution. It was passed at a time when the governor was weighing options to allow the CM's prosecution in the alleged irregularities of allotment of 14 sites to his wife Parvathy. A petition in this regard was submitted recently to the governor by activist TJ Abraham.

The resolution has come as a relief to Siddaramaiah and his political and legal advisors as the governor cannot take a decision without consulting the Council of Ministers, the analysts said. In 2011, the then governor Hansraj Bhardwaj gave consent to prosecute the then chief minister BS Yediyurappa on a complaint by advocates KN Balaraj and Sirajin Bhasha. An FIR was filed against Yediyurappa and he was sent to prison, Abraham told The New Indian Express.

He said the resolution passed by the cabinet will not have any impact on his petition. He will meet the governor again on Monday to seek permission to prosecute Siddaramaiah. He claimed that he had explained to the governor about the "misdeeds" of Siddaramaiah.

"The CM's wife got the sites allotted by MUDA during the BJP rule in 2021 because of Siddaramaiah's influence. I have submitted all documents related to it," he claimed.

But Siddaramaiah's legal experts disputed Abraham's claims and said Yediyurappa ignored the officials' notes and signed documents denotifying 20 acres of land. But Siddaramaiah did not sign any document with regard to the allotment of sites to his wife in Mysuru by MUDA, they said.

"Siddaramaiah, instead of going against the governor, should have replied to the notice as the complaint against him is not maintainable. The cabinet can advise the governor on issues related to legislation. But the issue of notice to Siddaramaiah is a legal procedure, for which he should have replied," said a constitutional expert.

WHAT'S IN GOVERNOR'S SHOWCAUSE NOTICE...

Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot received a request from activist TJ Abraham on July 26, 2024, seeking sanction for prosecution against CM Siddaramaiah— in connection with the alleged irregularities in the MUDA site allotment— for offences under Sections 7, 9, 11, 12 & 15 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and Sections 59, 61, 62, 201, 227, 228, 229, 239, 314, 316(5), 318(1)(2)(3), 319, 322, 324, 324(1)(2)(3), 335, 336, 338 & 340 of Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita and other applicable provisions of law in the interest of enforcing probity in life and service of Public Servants and upholding the law of land. The petition addendum with a circular from the High Court of Karnataka and an office order from the Central Vigilance Commission. The Governor noted that the allegations are of serious nature and prima facie seems plausible. The Governor also noticed that a complaint has already been filed in the Lokayukta Police Station in Mysuru by the petitioner on July 18, 2024. He further said that request of the petitioner needs to be processed as per provisions of Sections 17(A) & 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and Section 218 of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, and considering the guidelines in circular dated 23-09-2023 on the basis of various judgements including that of the High Court and Supreme Court. "Therefore, I direct you to submit your reply on the allegations levied against you within seven days with supporting documents as to why permission for prosecution should not be granted against you to the petitioner," the Governor questioned the CM.

'GUV CANNOT SANCTION PROSECUTION UNLESS CABINET ADVISES'

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's legal adviser and MLA A S Ponnanna here on Thursday took a dig at Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot for issuing the showcause notice to the CM. "As per Article 163 of the Constitution, the Governor should act on the advise of the Cabinet. We are confident that the Governor will take a decision as per the decision taken by the council of ministers," he said. Legal experts, however, said the Cabinet or the council of ministers can give their advise, but the Governor has the discretionary power to either accept or reject the same. Now, in the MUDA case, the Governor may reject the council of ministers' resolution and sanction prosecution against the CM, they added.

PETITION AGAINST BJP LEADERS

Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda said there were similar complaints and appeals related to BJP leaders, including Shashikala Jolle, Murugesh Nirani, Janardhan Reddy and others, and these petitions were pending at the Governor's office. But in Siddaramaiah's case, the Governor issued show-cause notice within a few minutes, he added.

IN Siddaramaiah's absence, it was the CoM meeting instead of a Cabinet meeting.

"We believe the Governor is sensible, and will oblige our plea... We have studied and considered court orders in other states in such cases. There is law and Constitution in our country, and we believe the Governor will not come under anyone's pressure," Shivakumar told reporters.

Law Minister HK Patil said CM Siddaramaiah had told them he would not participate in the cabinet meeting as he and his family members were involved in the petition. "The CM has upheld moral values. He felt his presence may not have allowed his cabinet ministers to take an unbiased decision," Patil said.

Earlier in the day, the CM had called for a breakfast meeting with his cabinet colleagues, which went on for over three hours.

Shivakumar addressed the media with ministers HK Patil, MB Patil, Krishna Byre Gowda, G Parameshwara, Byrathi Suresh and CM's legal adviser AS Ponnanna. The CoM was held for more than three hours. Shivakumar said after the Congress won the assembly polls last year, the Congress legislative party had decided to make Siddaramaiah the chief minister. "We respect the law and Constitution of this country, but the opposition party and Union government are misusing the Constitutional powers of the Governor. This is nothing but murder of democracy," he said.

Shivakumar said on July 26, Abraham had filed the petition running into over 100 pages. On the same day, the chief secretary (then Rajneesh Goel) had replied to the Governor, who had sought a report from the CM on the MUDA case, based on a July 15 letter by the farmers' association. The chief secretary had mentioned that a one-man judicial commission headed by Justice PN Desai was looking into the MUDA case, following which Governor Gehlot issued show-cause notice to CM Siddaramaiah.

"While issuing show-cause notice, the Governor failed to apply his mind to the facts of the case, and did not consider the material available on record. The issue of show-cause notice suffers from total non-application of mind," he said, questioning the Governor's "urgency" and alleged that he had done so without checking.

Shivakumar said the Governor had failed to take note of the fact that Abraham has criminal antecedents, with cases of blackmail and extortion registered against him. He said whenever there is a complaint against anyone, it has to be proved or a commission has to highlight it. "In a government set-up, if there is a case against any official, we don't take action without probing. In this case, without a probe, how can the Governor issue show-cause notice, asking the CM to reply within seven days?" he questioned, adding that the CM would reply anyway.

Shivakumar said neither the CM nor his wife Parvathi had sought alternative sites. "Parvathi's gift property was not acquired by MUDA, but encroached. They realised their mistake and offered MUDA sites. This did not happen when Siddaramaiah was CM, but during the BJP's regime," he said.

Damage caused due to release of over 1.7 lakh cusecs of water from Kabini and KRS reservoirs near old Wellesley Bridge in Srirangapatna on Thursday | UDAYASHANKAR S

Cauvery in spate, three villages in Kollegal inundated

MYSURU: In the wake of increased discharge of water from Krishnaraja Sagar (KRS) and Kabini reservoirs and the Cauvery river in spate, three villages in Kollegal in Chamarajanagar district are inundated affecting hundreds of families. Water gushed into low-lying areas of Hale Hampapura, Dasarana Pura and Hale Annahalli villages. The district administration pressed boats into service and with the help of expert swimmers, moved people from the village to relief camps.

Disfigured bodies add to woes of shattered families

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Wayanad

NEARLY three days after devastating landslides hit Kerala's Wayanad district, heartbreaking stories are coming to the fore from the epicentre of the tragedy. With adverse weather conditions and rescue personnel pulling out bodies of the victims, including parts of human bodies, from the slush at Mundakkai and Chooralmala, it has become a Herculean task for the families of the victims from Karnataka to identify their loved ones.

It is a long wait for nearly 40 people from Karnataka staying in relief centres in Meppadi who are yet to receive the bodies of their loved ones.

Officials have confirmed that 18 people from Karnataka have died in the Wayanad landslides, of whom seven have been identified and buried.

However, on Thursday, the bodies of five more people from Karnataka— Doreswamy (48), his daughter Darshini (19), and cousin Rohit (18), all hailing from Siddapura in Kodagu district, and Leelavathi (50) and Nehal (7) from KR Pet taluk in Mandya district— were recovered and cremated.

Although Karnataka revenue officials confirmed that the body of Rajendra (Rajan) from Venkataiah Chatra near Chamarajnagar was identified by his neighbours looking at his body as his face was disfigured, his sister denied it. A few other families, too, claimed the body. This has made the task of the officials difficult.

Meanwhile, Mahadevi, 75, from T Narasipura taluk in Mysuru district, is still searching for her dear ones. According to the officials, the bodies of Mahadevi's daughter-in-law Savithri (52), son Shivanna (50), and granddaughter Sriya (19) were identified and cremated on Thursday. Nine members of Mahadevi's family have been missing since the landslide. Mahadevi, who is camping in the relief camp in Wayanad, visited a mortuary to look for her family members. She, however, could not identify the bodies as they were disfigured beyond recognition. "I cannot identify by looking at body parts like legs, limbs, and parts of the head. Thirty more ambulances are yet to reach the hospital and mortuary. Only then I can come to a conclusion," Mahadevi said.

Although the NDRF, SDRF, and police personnel are carrying out the rescue operations in adverse weather conditions, many in the camp have given up hopes of their kin having survived the disaster.

Douglas, the brother-in-law of one of the victims, Doreawamy, said there is no sign of Mundakkai, which was home to nearly 400 people before the disaster. "The village is filled with slush and mud. I thank God that my sister Sandhi and her son Rahul escaped the disaster as they had gone to visit my parents in Pandalur village near Sathyamangalam in Tamil Nadu," he said.

Meanwhile, officials are in a fix after four people from Karnataka claimed the body of one Guruimalappa, that they identified through a mole on his face. This has forced the officials to subject them to a DNA test.

Supriya, a native of Mandya who is settled in Meppadi, said that she is yet to locate her brother and his wife as the landslide has destroyed their house in Chooralmala. Gundlupet Tahsildar Ramesh Babu said that it has become difficult to identify the victims through a few body parts or disfigured bodies. He said the recovered bodies from Mundakkai and Chooralmala are housed in three places, including the government hospital in nearby Nilambur town.

Meanwhile, officials from Karnataka said that the rescue operations will continue along the Chaliyar river and Machikkai village on Friday if the weather cooperates.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah is visiting flood-hit areas in Kodagu district on Friday. The CM will visit houses and inspect roads that were damaged due to heavy rain. The CM will also visit a relief centre in Siddapur in Virajpet taluk

Decision on internal reservations after consultations, says Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Thursday welcomed the Supreme Court's decision to uphold the authority of state governments to identify and provide internal reservations for the most backward classes among the Scheduled Castes. The CM termed it as a historic verdict.

"I wholeheartedly welcome this judgment. With the Supreme Court's verdict, a major obstacle in the implementation of internal reservations has been removed. We will consult with Scheduled Caste leaders and legal experts regarding the contentious aspects of the verdict, including the issue of the creamy layer, and take appropriate action," Siddaramaiah said.

The CM said the Congress is committed to providing internal reservations within the Scheduled Castes. "Our government is committed to implementing the report of the committee chaired by Justice AJ Sadashiva as promised in our last Assembly election manifesto," he said.

Siddaramaiah said before the last Assembly polls, the BJP government in the state hurriedly made a decision on internal reservations and sent it to the Union Government.

Despite the Usha Mehra Committee, constituted by the Centre, clearly stating that internal reservations within the Scheduled Castes could be implemented through a Constitutional amendment, the Union Government has so far failed to take any decision and has kept it aside, he said.

"In light of the current Supreme Court decision, the State Government will thoroughly study the recommendations of the Justice AJ Sadashiva Committee. If necessary, considering recent developments, a clear decision regarding internal reservations will be taken through consultation and negotiation," the CM added.

SC quota: Victory for BJP govt decision: Bommai

Bengaluru: Former Chief Minister and BJP MP Basavaraj Bommai said the Supreme Court's approval for providing internal reservation to scheduled castes is a victory for the previous BJP government's decision. In a series of tweets, he stated that understanding the long-standing injustice faced by the most backward SC communities, they have been demanding internal reservation for the past three to four decades. "Our government had approved internal reservation in the cabinet, issued a government order, and recommended it to the Central government. This position has now been upheld by the Constitutional Bench of the Supreme Court comprising seven judges, marking a historic judgment and a victory for the struggle for internal reservation of the SC community," the former CM said. Bommai said the Siddaramaiah government had opposed this by recommending to the Central government the need to amend Article 341 of the Constitution. ENS

BYV SAYS HE AND HDK WILL LEAD MYSURU PADAYATRA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TOP BJP leaders seem to have convinced Union Minister and JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy to join the seven-day padayatra from Bengaluru to Mysuru in protest against the alleged irregularities in allotment of sites by MUDA, benefitting CM Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathy.

The padayatra will start from Bengaluru on Saturday as planned, said state BJP president BY Vijayendra here on Thursday. Vijayendra along with Union Minister Pralhad Joshi and BJP national general secretary Radha Mohan Das Agrawal persuaded Kumaraswamy to participate in the padayatra.

Sources said Union Home Minister Amit Shah also spoke to Kumaraswamy. During the meeting in New Delhi, Kumaraswamy stated that it is not the right time for padayatra when people are suffering due to rain and floods. He also expressed displeasure over former BJP MLA Preetham Gowda's involvement in the padayatra, accusing him of trying to destroy former PM HD Deve Gowda's family.

Vijayendra said Kumaraswamy and senior BJP leaders agreed to make the padayatra a success and continue their fight against the "corrupt" Congress government. The padayatra will be led by Kumaraswamy and Vijayendra.

BJP state general secretary Sunil Kumar said the party workers from across the state will take part in the 140-km padayatra, which will start at 9.30 am. He said around 20 km will be covered every day. Around 10,000 people are expected to take part in the padayatra daily.

Meanwhile, DyCM DK Shivakumar said BJP can't threaten the existence of JDS in its stronghold of the Old Mysore region. "I believe Kumaraswamy will retain his and JDS' identity and existence. There may be disagreements between BJP and JDS over many issues," he said, responding to a question on Kumaraswamy's remarks against BJP on Wednesday.

"The BJP has won 10 seats in the Lok Sabha elections with the help of JDS, which is strong in Mysuru, Mandya and Bengaluru Rural districts. JDS obviously won't agree to the padayatra if BJP doesn't take its leaders into confidence. It is a different matter if BJP and JDS are merging in the future," Shivakumar said.

Cong rallies against Centre to counter BJP-JDS padayatra

Bengaluru : To counter the BJP-JDS padayatra against the alleged irregularities in the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA), the Ruling Congress is holding a series of public meetings against what they called injustice done by the Union Government to the state. The first such meeting will be held in Bidadi on Friday. The BJP -JDS Bengaluru -Mysuru padayatra is starting on Saturday. Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Thursday said the Congress will hold a series of such public meetings that will be attended by the party leaders including ministers and legislators. They will raise questions about the union government's stepmotherly attitude towards Karnataka, he said. Shivakumar, who is also state Congress president, said the BJP leaders must answer their questions about misuse of Central agencies, irregularities committed during their governments and other issues. He said they will not stop the BJP-JDS padayatra, but it will not be allowed inside Bengaluru City as it will cause inconvenience to people. ENS

WORLD LEADERS MUST JOIN HANDS TO STOP WAR IN WEST ASIA

THE war in West Asia is escalating. The recent turn of events has the potential to draw more countries into it and create a situation so combustible that it may impact the entire world. On Tuesday, Israeli rockets fired into Lebanese capital Beirut killed Fouad Shukur, a top commander of the Iran-backed armed group Hezbollah. This was followed by the assassination of Hamas political leader Ismail Haniyeh in the Iranian capital Tehran. Though no one has claimed responsibility for the Hamas leader's killing, the Iranian and Hamas leaders have blamed Israel for it. The US has been quick to reject accusations of their involvement in Haniyeh's killing. Nonetheless, the Hamas and Hezbollah leaders' assassinations have led to threats of retaliation and apprehensions about the spread of the conflict with a new front opening on Israel's northern border with Lebanon, the Houthis intensifying attacks in the Red Sea, and Iran, Iraq and Syria joining the war.

It is time for the world community to redouble its efforts to calm tempers in West Asia and prevent a full-scale war. The Israel-Palestine conflict has already led to a loss of over 40,000 lives. Further escalation will not only be dangerous for regional stability for generations, but also lead to a bigger humanitarian crisis than there already is. The international community must respond quickly and decisively to this emerging threat. More multi-pronged diplomatic efforts to de-escalate the conflict should have started long back. The US, Israel's closest ally and largest military supplier, should engage with Russia and China, which enjoy good relations with Iran, to prevent a larger war.

The core of the conflict—the Palestine issue—has been simmering for far too long. It has been clear for decades it needs to be resolved for moving towards lasting peace in the region. But the immediate need is to prevent the spread of war. The Houthi blockade of the Red Sea has already had a huge impact on trade and inflation. A full-scale war will further disrupt supply chains and energy supplies, leading to dire economic consequences. The world simply cannot afford a prolonged regional conflict. Despite their sharp differences on Ukraine, the US and Russia must use their leverage in Asia to bring peace to the region.

BENGALURU TUNNEL PLAN: A CHALLENGE & A THREAT

KARNATAKA Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar, also the minister in charge of Bengaluru's development, has floated the idea of having a 60-km north-south and east-west network of underground roads to decongest the city. He has proposed the first one linking a location near Esteem Mall on Bellary Road in north Bengaluru with the Silk Board Junction in southeast Bengaluru—a distance of 18.5 km. There are some major challenges facing this proposed mega project. It is estimated to cost ₹30,000 crore, or ₹500 crore per km, according to the deputy CM's letter to Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman seeking central funds in December 2023. At the same time, the state government is staring at a ₹56,000-crore annual spend on the five guarantees promised during last year's poll campaign.

Experts have warned that a thorough scientific assessment of the soil structure and profile is a must, considering that sinkholes appeared during the city metro's underground works. Bengaluru's average soil profile across its 750-square-km area includes layers of weathered or hard rock starting at about 8 metres below the surface. Above it is a layer of medium to dense silty sand with clay, gravel or filled-up soil. Considering that the surface layers are becoming increasingly fragile in urban areas due to frequent infrastructure work, utmost diligence should be the priority if the tunnel project is undertaken. The city has a high population and construction density, which makes it extremely challenging to burrow under without adversely impacting life and property overground. The project would also need to avert underground structures such as water and sewage pipelines, the metro's underground segments, and the deep foundations of some high-rise structures. Given the hard rock base in a densely-developed city, a project such as this would be extremely challenging.

Crucially, adding roads—overground or underground—would mean encouraging greater use of private vehicles. Also, the city already has a poor record of maintaining subways that are regularly flooded during heavy rains and have even claimed a life. The safety of the underground tunnels would be top of the mind for Bengalureans. The better and cheaper alternative would be to qualitatively improve and quantitatively expand the existing public transport infrastructure with greater investments in bus and metro connections. Safer, quicker and more comfortable intra-city travel is a dream in a congested city like Bengaluru.

QUICK TAKE

END THE COLOUR CONFUSION

A war of colours has broken out over the weather office's shaded warnings. After unnaturally high rainfall in Kerala and Delhi led to death and destruction this week, both states claimed the Indian Meteorological Department's red alert came hours too late. A red alert means extremely bad weather would disrupt connections and pose significant risk to lives; an orange alert is a signal to heighten vigilance and take precautions. The coloured warnings are not new and acting on them should be swift and proactive, not a call to wait for clearer signals. Rather than escalating the blame game, the three tiers of government and disaster management agencies should hone their coordination countrywide.

A thawing Arctic has given India the chance to diversify supply chains through Northern Sea Route and secure more Russian fuel supplies. The implications extend beyond bilateral relations

THE ARCTIC ROUTE: RUSSIAN TIES AND WESTERN WORRIES

MANISH TEWARI

Lawyer, MP and former I&B minister

SOURAV ROY

THE Arctic Polar Sea Route, often referred to as the Northern Sea Route (NSR), has emerged as a significant focus of global maritime interest due to the increasing accessibility of Arctic waters resulting from climate change. Recent discussions between Indian and Russian officials, including a high-level meeting in Vladivostok in March 2024 and subsequent negotiations, underscore a strategic shift towards deeper cooperation. This evolving route, while promising for nations like India and Russia, stirs significant concern among Western nations.

In March 2024, Indian and Russian officials convened to discuss a broadening partnership in Arctic shipping. Their agenda prominently featured the operationalisation of the Eastern Maritime Corridor, a proposed shipping lane linking Russia's Far East to Chennai. This corridor is seen as a significant enhancement to the NSR, which has been gaining traction as a viable alternative to traditional routes.

India, although currently engaged more modestly with Arctic shipping compared to China, is keen on leveraging this route to enhance connectivity. The NSR, instrumental in moving substantial volumes of cargo from Russia's Arctic port of Murmansk, could offer India a strategic advantage, particularly in securing Russian oil and gas resources.

The route's promise

The NSR presents a compelling alternative to the Suez Canal, reducing the sailing distance between Europe and Asia from 21,000 km to 13,000 km. For India, this route offers reduced transit times and potential cost savings. However, compared to China, already extensively using the NSR, the distance savings for India might be less pronounced. Nonetheless, India's interest in the NSR aligns with its broader strategy to diversify supply chains and develop alternative transport corridors, especially in light of ongoing global disruptions and sanctions on Russian energy exports. During the first seven months of 2023, India was responsible for 35 percent of the 8 million tonnes of cargo transported by the NSR, primarily consisting of coal and crude oil.

India's involvement in Arctic shipping could extend beyond trade. The bilateral cooperation agreement with Russia includes training Indian seafarers for Arctic navigation, a crucial step given the complex conditions in polar waters. This collaboration could also open avenues for Indian firms in shipbuilding, as Russia seeks to capitalise on the economic opportunities presented by the NSR's expansion.

Geopolitical considerations

Russia's strategic interest in the Arctic is multifaceted. The NSR is central to Russia's plans to enhance its global trade routes and reduce reliance on chokepoints like the Suez Canal and the Strait of Malacca. The NSR's development, supported by substantial investments in icebreaker tech and infrastructure, aims to boost traffic volumes significantly. Russia announced ambitious plans to increase traffic tenfold by 2035 and engaged in joint ventures with global logistics companies to achieve this goal.

The NSR offers substantial economic benefits for Russia by enhancing its logistics capabilities and global trade position. It shortens the shipping distance between Europe and Asia, which translates into a transit time shorter by 10 to 15 days, which can significantly decrease shipping costs. For instance, the cost of transporting a container from Europe to Asia via the NSR is estimated to be around 20 percent lower compared to the traditional route. This efficiency boost enhances Russia's Arctic ports' economic viability, encouraging investments in infrastructure such as icebreakers and port facilities. In 2023, cargo traffic through the NSR reached over 35 million tonnes, a significant increase from previous years, underscoring its growing importance in global trade.

Furthermore, it does have a significant impact on India. For example, a container shipping from Mumbai to Rotterdam via the NSR can cost approximately $1,500 less than the traditional Suez Canal route.

In 2023, India's total exports to Europe amounted to over $50 billion, and even a small percentage increase in competitiveness could significantly boost trade volumes. Leveraging the NSR can help Indian companies avoid congestion issues at chokepoints like the Suez Canal, which experienced record delays in recent years. By incorporating the NSR into their logistics strategies, Indian businesses could gain greater reliability and efficiency in their supply chains.

Strategic responses

The Arctic's warming climate and consequent reduction in ice cover present both opportunities and challenges for global shipping. While NSR offers a shorter and more efficient route, it also raises environmental concerns. The International Maritime Organization has implemented regulations to mitigate environmental impacts, such as the ban on heavy fuel oil in Arctic waters that will come into force in 2029.

Western nations are wary of the implications of the NSR's development, particularly in light of Russia's growing influence. The Arctic has become a new arena of geopolitical competition, with Russia and China positioning themselves as key players. This has led to increased scrutiny and strategic manoeuvres by Western powers, concerned about the potential dominance of Russia and China over this critical route.

The Arctic's evolving shipping landscape also highlights the broader strategic contest between Western powers and Russia. As the NSR becomes more commercially viable, it could reshape global trade patterns and influence international relations. The potential for increased traffic and economic activity underscores the need for a coordinated global response to manage the environmental and geopolitical challenges associated with this maritime frontier.

The recent developments in India-Russia cooperation reflect a strategic shift towards leveraging the NSR for enhanced trade and connectivity. For India, it offers opportunities to diversify its supply chains and secure vital energy resources, while also fostering broader bilateral ties with Russia.

However, the implications of the NSR's development extend beyond these bilateral relations. Western nations are closely monitoring the Arctic's transformation, as it represents a new frontier of geopolitical and economic competition. The evolving dynamics of Arctic shipping will undoubtedly influence global trade patterns and international relations in the years to come, making it a critical area for strategic attention and policy development.

AI AND THE MAGNA CARTA OF INTERNET

SAAI SUDHARSAN SATHIYAMOORTHY

Advocate, Madras High Court

IN the mid-1990s, as the number of American homes accessing the internet was growing, there was concern about the potential negative impact of sexual content online. Dubbed the 'Great Internet Sex Panic', it led to the introduction of Communications Decency Act in 1995 to address the perceived threat of pornography taking over the web.

The Act was the first federal attempt to define as a crime the use of computers to send 'indecent speech' or offensive material to others, and the US Supreme Court later partly struck down a majority of the provisions relating to indecent speech as being unconstitutional. The Act, however, proved central to the rise of the Silicon Valley and modern internet. Hidden within the Act was a consequential part, section 230, that protects online platforms from being held legally responsible as the 'publisher or speaker' of third-party content. As a result, it has facilitated business models of tech giants currently dominating the internet.

Before section 230, internet firms encountered the risk of users utilising their services to engage in illicit activities, potentially leading to legal liability for facilitating such unlawful behaviour. Section 230, known as the Magna Carta of the internet, provides "good samaritan" protection from civil liability to service providers for third-party information carried by them but does not shield them from responsibility for information they have created or activities unrelated to third-party content.

For instance, the law has been used to safeguard service providers such as social media companies against legal actions arising from their choices to transmit or remove user-generated content. In India, unlike section 230, section 79 of the Information & Technology Act, 2000 says internet service providers are immune for hosting third-party data, information, or communication, provided they observe 'due diligence while discharging [their] duties'—provided under IT Rules.

As the world stands on the precipice of a new era in artificial intelligence, the rapid advancement of large language models (LLMs) is poised to disrupt multiple industries. These are stochastic parrots that engage in convincing chatter without genuine comprehension. They are trained using extensive datasets, which allows them to accurately identify, translate, anticipate, or create text or other forms of information.

However, they can also make things up, hallucinate, and often generate content that makes untrue factual claims. This isn't a problem of bad inputs but rather a function of the way the LLMs that underpin AI work. They also challenge existing legal frameworks and force us to re-evaluate the boundaries of liability. Will these LLMs be considered information service providers? Or will operators of LLMs be held directly liable for the content generated?

HOUSTON MUSEUM OF NATURAL SCIENCE

Section 230 of the US Communications Decency Act, which protects online platforms from legal liability as publishers of third-party content, has been called the Magna Carta of the internet. Section 79 of the Indian IT Act offers similar cover. However the laws evolve, AI system operators have a moral duty to act responsibly

The legal interpretation of section 230 in the US or section 79 of India's IT Act as a potential defence against claims arising from LLM outputs has not been settled by courts. However, it is likely courts may be called upon to resolve this matter soon. If these sections are to be relied on, the nature of the LLM and its function may end up deciding whether or not the good samaritan exemption becomes applicable. Some LLMs that act like retrieval engines (such as Perplexity) may rely on being similar to Google and not considered as content generators.

However, in the case of LLMs that generate creative content, the answer may not be straightforward. If the new content includes statements or information not present in its training data, these may be perceived as completely new information. However, at the same time, these LLMs generate content based on particular prompts and inputs and may be comparable to the autocomplete feature in search engines.

Advocates for expanding the good samaritan exemption contend these models function as advanced content curation systems, similar to search engines or social media feeds, which display material according to user input. They argue that imposing legal responsibility on operators will impede innovation and deter the advancement of positive AI applications. On the other hand, critics argue that LLMs exhibit distinctions compared to conventional service providers. Instead of simply serving as a platform for user-generated content, these models autonomously produce content, which gives rise to worries over the possibility of mass distribution of false information, offensive language, or copyrighted material.

The complexity of this discussion is heightened by the obscure nature of LLMs, which frequently lack clarity regarding their training data, algorithms and decision-making processes. While some have argued for a tiered system of liability, where operators would be held to higher standards of accountability but still maintain some protections, the operators may most likely be excluded from claiming the exemptions. . Further, the exemption under section 79 is only applicable when the information is "made available by third parties" and "transmitted or temporarily stored or hosted" by the service provider.

Regardless of legal outcomes, the operators of AI systems have a moral duty to act responsibly by being open on the functioning of the AI, proactively mitigating potential biases and equipping users with tools to identify and report harmful content. As we explore this uncharted territory, one thing is certain: the era of LLMs has begun, and the established legal and regulatory frameworks that have governed the internet for many years are now facing a fundamental challenge.

Water leaked as adhesive material got displaced: LS

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AMID criticisms over water leakage in the new Parliament building, Lok Sabha Secretariat on Thursday clarified that a minor water leak happened due to displacement of an adhesive material used to fix the glass domes over the lobby and corrective measures were taken immediately.

Several Opposition members have shared videos of the leaking roof of the new Parliament building and questioned the weather resilience of the structure. Congress MP Manickam Tagore, who moved an adjournment motion in the Lok Sabha to discuss the issue, also posted a video on X that showed water dripping from the roof of a lobby of the new Parliament.

"Paper leakage outside, water leakage inside. The recent water leakage in the Parliament lobby used by the President highlights urgent weather resilience issues in the new building, just a year after completion. Moving adjournment motion on this issue in Lok Sabha," he wrote.

Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav and Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra also criticised the issue. The cost of the new Parliament, inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on May 28, 2023, is estimated at ₹971 crore.

Sharing a video of the leaking roof, Akhilesh said, "The old Parliament, where even the old MPs could come and meet, was better than the new one. Why don't we go back to the old Parliament, at least till the time the water dripping programme is going on in the Parliament built with billions of rupees? People are asking whether water dripping from every new roof constructed under the BJP government is a part of their well thought out design."

The Aam Aadmi Party tweeted, "Parliament built at cost of ₹1,200 crore is now dependent on a bucket of ₹120."

In a statement, the Lok Sabha Secretariat said the glass domes were incorporated in several parts of the new building keeping in view the concept of a Green Parliament, so that abundant natural light could be utilised during the day-to-day functioning of the House.

"During the heavy rain on Wednesday, the adhesive material used to fix the glass domes over the lobby was slightly displaced, causing minor leakage of water," the Lok Sabha Secretariat said, adding that corrective measures were taken immediately. It said water had accumulated opposite Makar Dwar (entrance), which was also drained out quickly.

Chadha calls for lowering age to contest elections

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AAP Rajya Sabha MP Raghav Chadha on Thursday pitched for reducing the minimum age for contesting elections to 21 years from the current 25 years, saying the move will enable more youth to participate in politics.

He said India is one of the youngest countries with 65% of its population under 35 years. "But, we are a young country with old politicians. We must aspire to become a young country with young politicians," he said in the Rajya Sabha, adding that 50% of the population in India is below the age of 25 years.

Chadha said 29 per cent of the people elected to the first Lok Sabha were below the age of 40 years. In the last Lok Sabha, only 12 per cent of MPs were under 40 years. "I have a suggestion to the government through the Chair of RS that the minimum age for contesting elections should be reduced from 25 to 21 years," he said.

Chadha further said that in India, politics is considered a bad profession. Parents want their children to become doctors, engineers, chartered accountants, and scientists, but not politicians, the Rajya Sabha member said. "We need to incentivise youth so that they enter politics in India," he said.

Uproar after Oppn targets Vaishnaw over accidents

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

FACING Opposition heat over the recent train accidents, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said on Thursday that his ministry's priority is reforms and not making "reels to show off".

Vaishnaw's angry response came after Congress' deputy leader in Lok Sabha, Gaurav Gogoi, called him 'derailment minister'. "In last two months, four goods trains derailed and four people died in July. Ten people were killed in June due to Kanchanjunga Express collision. In the last year-and-a-half, train accidents have been rising, and the minister is busy with manufacturing. He is not railway minister, he is derailment minister," Gogoi said.

An irate Vaishnaw said, "When Mamata Banerjee was the railway minister, she used to give the accident numbers, which decreased from 0.24% to 0.19%. These people used to clap in the House. Today, when it has decreased from 0.19% to 0.03%, they put such blame."

In a veiled attack on Rahul Gandhi's meeting with loco pilots at the New Delhi railway station, he said, "We are not the people who make reels, we do hard work unlike you people who make reels."

"We had very productive talks with PM of Vietnam and discussed sectors like defence, maritime trade and green economy for closer cooperation," said PM Narendra Modi.

The two sides agreed to further enhance defence cooperation based on mutual interest and priorities of the two countries facilitating contribution to greater stability in the wider Indo-Pacific region.

States allowed to buy rice from FCI without e-auction at ₹2,800/quintal

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE Centre has allowed state governments to directly buy rice from the Food Corporation of India (FCI) without participating in e-auction.

"States can buy rice from the Food Corporation of India without participating in e-auction at ₹2,800 per quintal under the open market sale scheme (domestic)," said Pralhad Joshi, Union Minister of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution.

The decision has been taken to reduce the huge surplus stocks at FCI godowns prior to the new procurement season.

Last year, the Centre had put restrictions on state governments to participate in e-auction, which impacted the Karnataka government. After winning assembly polls last year, the Congress government in Karnataka needed extra 2.34 lakh tonnes of rice to fulfil its election promise of providing free 10 kg rice to poor families under the Anna Bhagya Yojana. The Centre, however, discontinued selling stocked rice and wheat to states under the open market scheme, drawing criticism from the Karnataka government.

Under the open market scheme, the Centre will offload grain to states for ₹2,800 per quintal (excluding transportation cost).

IMD predicts above normal rainfall till September

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE India Meteorological Department (IMD) has forecast that rainfall during the second half of the southwest monsoon season (August to September) is likely to be above normal. August's rainfall could be subdued, it said.

The IMD also states the neutral condition of the El Nino phenomenon will exist and the La Nina phenomenon is likely to develop towards August-end. In India, El Nino is synonymous with a poor monsoon whereas La Nina symbolises bountiful rains.

In its prediction, during the August-September monsoon season, normal-to-above normal rainfall is most likely over most parts of the country except parts of northeast and adjoining areas of east India, Ladakh, Saurashtra and Kutch. Below normal rainfall is likely in some isolated pockets of central and peninsular India.

In terms of temperature, during August 2024, above-normal maximum temperatures are likely over most parts of the country, except for some areas in the Gangetic plains, central India, and the southeast coast of India, where normal to below-normal maximum temperatures are likely.

However, during the August rainfall forecast, the Met department said the monthly rainfall over the entire country would likely be within the normal range (94-106% of Lon Period Average). Moreover, many areas in southern parts of central and adjoining northern peninsular India, northeast and adjoining areas of east India are likely to get below normal range.

Meanwhile, the country has received around 2% above normal monsoon midway its course. In June, the country received -11% below average monsoon rainfall and in July, the country received +9% above normal rainfall.

July was one of the warmest months since 1901. The average mean temperature in July was the second warmest since 1901. East and Northeast India, and Central India have also observed the highest minimum temperature since 1901. East and Northeast India recorded the second highest maximum temperature since 1901.

Except for nine sub-divisions which include East UP, Bihar, Jharkhand, Gangetic West Bengal, NMMT (Northeast states), J&K, Punjab, Haryana and Uttarakhand, the rest of all 27 sub-divisions received normal rainfall.

According to an assessment by the Met department, rainfall over East and Northeast India (318.6 mm) was 10th lowest since 1901 and the 6th lowest since 2001 in July.

High alert in Kedar valley

Swollen rivers have crossed danger marks at several places, prompting the government to sound a high alert in the Kedar valley, and suspend the Kedarnath Yatra. Rescue efforts are underway to evacuate pilgrims stranded along the Char Dham routes, with helicopters being used in the operation. Sources said that since Thursday morning, SDRF and other relief teams have shifted 320 Char Dham pilgrims to safe locations.

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

MULTIPLE cloudbursts overnight in Himachal Pradesh's capital Shimla, Kullu and Mandi districts not only killed four people but also led to the disappearance of at least 50 people. Manali is cut off from the rest of the country while the state government has put the Army and Air Force on standby.

According to the state emergency operation centre, the cloudbursts took place in Nirmand, Sainj and Malana areas in Kullu, Padhar in Mandi and Rampur in Shimla districts. More than a dozen houses were washed away and two bridges were damaged as incessant rains swelled up the Parvati river at Sainj. The flash flood has damaged the highway at Malana. Earthmoving equipment were washed away near a hydro project Jhakri in Rampur in Shimla district.

The worst hit is the Malana-II power project. Amid a sharp rise in the dam's water level, people have been advised to stay away from the river and nearby areas.

While rescue operations began gingerly, parts of the Chandigarh-Manali National Highway were washed away at many points. A building collapsed at Sabji Mandi in Manikaran in the raging Parvati in Kullu.

Fed by heavy rains, the swollen Beas threatens Kullu forcing closure of Shimla-Junga road following reports of vehicles being buried in debris in Rajnagar in Churah assembly constituency in Chamba.

Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu said: "At least 50 people are missing and two are dead in an early morning cloudburst in Kullu, Shimla and Mandi districts. Around 35 people are missing in Rampur in Shimla, 9 in Mandi and one is Kullu."

Roads broken, Kedarnath yatra halted

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

A small hotel in Uttarakhand's Tehri was swept away on Thursday in the sudden rush of water and debris following a cloudburst, killing three members of a family and injuring six others. Nine more people died elsewhere in the state in heavy overnight rains that flooded small towns.

Swollen rivers have crossed danger marks at several places prompting the government to sound a high alert in the Kedar Valley, and suspend the Kedarnath Yatra. Rescue efforts are underway to evacuate pilgrims stranded along the pedestrian paths, with helicopters being used in the operation.

Tehri district magistrate Mayur Dixit said the authorities rushed teams of revenue, police, SDRF, health, roads and electricity to Jakhnyali in Ghansali Block, Tehri, late Wednesday night after receiving reports on a hotel being washed away in a cloud burst.

SDRF sources said two bodies were recovered at night while an injured person succumbed to his injuries on way to the hospital. The deceased have been identified as Bhanu Prasad, 50 and Anita Devi, 45.

In another incident, two persons went missing in Chamoli's Belchori area after a flash flood.

District disaster management officer, Nandan Singh Rajwar told this newspaper that NDRF and SDRF personnel were working hard to rescue pilgrims in Lencholi.

Delhi rerun as 3 drown after flood water enters basement

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

AT least three people, including a six-year-old girl, were killed as the basement of their house in Vishwakarma area of Jaipur was flooded on Thursday after heavy rain pounded the Rajasthan capital, officials said. The incident happened days after three civil services aspirants died in Delhi when rainwater gushed into the basement their coaching institute.

The bodies of Kamal Shah (23), Pooja Saini (19) and her niece Purvi Saini were recovered from the flooded Jaipur house by SDRF during a rescue operation that lasted several hours.

"Kamal Shah managed to get his parents and wife out of the basement. However, as he attempted to escape, a sudden surge of water trapped him inside, leading to his death by drowning," Chomu ACP Ashok Chauhan said, adding that the victims were natives of Bihar.

After the water entered the basement of their houses in Jaipur, the families began removing their belongings, deputy commissioner of police (West) Amit Kumar said. "The passage to the basement of the house, where deaths occurred, is narrow and deep. During this time, three people from two families got trapped in the basement as it started filling with water," Kumar said.

Chief Minister Bhajan Lal Sharma directed officials to provide financial assistance of ₹5 lakh to the family of each deceased. Most areas of the Jaipur city experienced waterlogging due to heavy rainfall that began on Wednesday night and continued on Thursday morning.

According to Jaipur meteorological department, Karauli, Sawaimadhopur, Alwar, Churu, Bharatpur, Tonk, Sikar, Hanumangarh, Dholpur, Nagaur and Jhunjhunu districts recorded heavy to very heavy rainfall in the past 24 hours. Jaipur recorded the highest rainfall of 173 mm during this period, the weather office said.

Several schools in Jaipur declared a holiday due to continuous rains.

Bill to strengthen disaster mgmt creates LS heat

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

DAYS after deadly landslides hit Wayanad, the Centre on Thursday introduced Disaster Management (Amendment) Bill, 2024 in Lok Sabha to strengthen the national and state disaster management authorities. The Opposition parties including the Congress and Trinamool Congress questioned the constitutionality of the proposed legislation and said it will undermine the federal structure of the country.

The government said it has become necessary to amend certain provisions of the Disaster Management Act, 2005 to bring more clarity and convergence regarding the roles of authorities and committees working in the field of disaster management. The 2005 Act has been reviewed in consultation with all stakeholders, including state governments, it said.

The bill, which was introduced in Lok Sabha by the minister of state for home affairs Nityanand Rai, confers statutory status to certain organisations like the National Crisis Management Committee that existed before Act came into force. It will provide for the creation of a disaster database at the national and state levels, make provision for the constitution of an "Urban Disaster Management Authority" for the state capital and large cities having municipal corporations, and make provision for the constitution of "State Disaster Response Force" by the state government.

Congress MP Manish Tewari said none of the entries in List 1 or List 2 of the Constitution dealing with the Central and state subjects deal with the issue of disaster management. He suggested the government should amend the concurrent list to have a proper entry to cover the issue of disaster management.

MAJORITY RULING

By majority of 6:1, Supreme Court okays sub-classification of SCs by states

Overrules 2004 judgment of five-judge bench in EV Chinnaiah case

Points out historical and empirical evidence to establish that that SCs are socially heterogenous

Says Article 14 permits sub-classification of class which is not similarly situated

To sub-classify, states must collect data on inadequacy of representation

Wants exclusion of creamy layer from SCs too

Dissenting judge says states cannot change Presidential List and tinker with Article 341 to provide reservation

Article 14 allows sub-classification: Supreme Court

THE verdict came on a batch of petitions against sub-classification laws in Punjab, Tamil Nadu and elsewhere, arguing they were not in sync with the Chinnaiah order.

"Article 14 permits the sub-classification," the verdict authored by Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud for himself and Justice Manoj Misra said. Justices B R Gavai, Vikram Nath, Pankaj Mithal and Satish Chandra Sharma wrote separate verdicts that concurred with the CJI. Justice Bela Trivedi was the lone dissenter. She said Parliament alone has the right to include or exclude castes in the SC list, adding states cannot tinker with it.

The CJI said the state in exercise of its power under Articles 15 (non-discrimination on grounds of religion, race, caste, sex, place of birth) and 16 (equality in public employment) of the Constitution is free to identify the different degrees of social backwardness and provide special provisions, such as quota. States can sub-classify SCs if (a) there is a rational principle for differentiation; and (b) the rational principle has a nexus with the purpose of sub-classification.

HC rejects Muslim side plea on Krishna Janmabhoomi

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

IN a significant development, the Allahabad High Court on Thursday rejected the applications from the Muslim side challenging the maintainability of suits filed by Hindu worshippers in connection with the dispute. The court upheld the maintainability of all 18 suits filed by Hindu petitioners, and all will be heard together.

The High Court determined that the suits were not barred by the Limitation Act, the Waqf Act, or the Places of Worship Act, 1991, which prohibits the conversion of any religious structure as it existed on August 15, 1947.

With Thursday's order, Justice Mayank Kumar Jain of the Allahabad High Court has paved the way for the 18 consolidated suits to be heard together on their merits. Justice Jain has set August 12, 2024, as the next date for hearing, when the issues in the case will be framed. Notably, Justice Jain had reserved his order on June 6, 2024, after hearing pleas from the Shahi Eidgah mosque management committee and the UP Sunni Central Waqf Board. The Muslim side had filed applications under Order 7 Rule 11 of the Civil Procedure Code (CPC) concerning the maintainability of the Hindu petitioners' suits.

The dispute dates back to the era of Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb, when the Shahi Eidgah mosque was allegedly constructed in Mathura, purportedly after demolishing a temple at Lord Krishna's birthplace. The Hindu suits seek the "removal" of the Shahi Eidgah mosque from the 13.37-acre complex it shares with the Katra Keshav Dev temple in Mathura and request possession of the Shahi Eidgah premises.

The Muslim side raised preliminary objections to the maintainability of the Hindu suits, arguing that they were barred by limitation. According to UP Sunni Central Waqf Board lawyer Afzal Ahmad, both parties h ad reached a compromise on October 12, 1968, confirmed in a 1974 civil suit. The Muslim side contended that the mosque in question was built in 1669-70 and that the limitation period to challenge a compromise was three years; however, suits were filed in 2020, thus exceeding limitation period.

9/11 accused mastermind, US enter pretrial plea deal

Khalid Sheikh Mohammed will no longer be given death sentence

WASHINGTON

THE US announced it entered into a pretrial deal with the accused 9/11 mastermind Khalid Sheikh Mohammed, a Kuwaiti-Pakistani engineer, and two other co-accused in the 2001 terror attacks that killed nearly 3,000 people.

The agreement reached after 27 months of negotiations takes the death sentence off the table for Mohammed, Walid Bin Attash, and Mustafa al Hawsawi, prosecutors said in a letter sent to the families of 9/11 victims and survivors shortly before the Department of Defence announced the news in a press release on Wednesday. "The specific terms and conditions of the pretrial agreements are not available to the public at this time," it said.

Mohammed and his co-defendants, who have spent almost two decades in the US military prison at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, will enter guilty pleas at a plea hearing that could come as early as next week, according to the letter obtained by CNN.

The settlement agreements with the Pentagon bring partial closure to a case that has dragged on for years and become mired in legal delays over whether the evidence extracted through torture during their interrogations was admissible in court.

On September 11, 2001, two hijacked passenger planes hit the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center in New York City. A third plane struck the Pentagon in Washington. A fourth plane, heading to Washington, crashed in Pennsylvania after passengers fought back with the hijackers.

Many family members of the nearly 3,000 people who died in the September 11, 2001, attacks want the 9/11 defendants put to death. Since a trial became increasingly unlikely, plea bargains were widely viewed as the only way to resolve the case, the US media reported. The three accused, along with Ali Abdul Aziz Ali and Ramzi Bin al Shibh, were initially charged jointly and arraigned on June 5, 2008, and then were again charged jointly and arraigned a second time on May 5, 2012, in connection with their alleged roles in the September 11, 2001, attacks against the United States, the release said. PTI

Mohd Deif too dead. Iran mulls response

JERUSALEM/BEIRUT

THE Israeli military said on Thursday that it has confirmed that the head of Hamas' military wing, Mohammed Deif, was killed in an airstrike in Gaza in July. In a statement Thursday, the Israeli military said that following an intelligence assessment, it can be confirmed that Mohammed Deif was eliminated in the strike.

There was no immediate comment from Hamas. Along with Deif and Haniyeh, Israel has vowed to eliminate Hamas' top leader in Gaza, Yehya Sinwar, but he has so far remained elusive.

Israel says Sinwar and Deif were the masterminds of the October 7 attack. Deif was one of the founders of Hamas' military wing, the Qassam Brigades, in the 1990s and lead the unit for decades. Under his command, it carried out dozens of suicide bombings against Israelis on buses and at cafes and built up a formidable arsenal of rockets that could strike deep into Israel and often did.

Meanwhile, Iran and armed groups backed by it are preparing coordinated action meant to deter Israel but avert all-out war, sources and analysts said, after the killings of top Hamas and Hezbollah figures.

On Wednesday, Iranian officials met in Tehran with representatives of the so-called "axis of resistance" — a loose alliance of Tehran-backed groups hostile to Israel — to discuss retaliation for the deaths of Hamas's leader and Hezbollah's top military commander, said a source close to Lebanese group.

"Two scenarios were discussed: a simultaneous response from Iran and its allies or a staggered response from each party," the source who had been briefed on the meeting said, requesting anonymity to discuss sensitive matters.

UK teen suspect charged with 3 counts of murder

LONDON

THE teenage male suspect charged with murder over the fatal stabbing of three girls in north-west England was on Thursday named by authorities after restrictions were lifted in court, as PM Keir Starmer held talks with police chiefs over violent protests the incident triggered outside Downing Street here. Axel Muganwa Rudakubana, a Wales-born 17-year-old from the nearby village of Banks in Lancashire who was arrested soon after the attack on Monday in Southport, appeared at Liverpool City Magistrates Court charged with three counts of murder, 10 counts of attempted murder and possession of a knife. Judge Andrew Menary lifted the legal restriction on naming the accused after hearing submissions that he is just days away from his 18th birthday on August 7 and remanded him in youth custody until the next hearing on October 25.

In its update on Wednesday evening's violent clashes in the aftermath of the stabbings, the Metropolitan Police said that 111 people had been arrested for offences including violent disorder, assaults on police officers, possession of knives and offensive weapons and breach of protest conditions. A number of officers were injured as one was punched in the chest, one elbowed in the head, one kicked in the back, one kicked in the wrist and another kicked multiple times.

Good JLR sales lift Tata Motors net profit in 1st quarter

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ON the back of robust Jaguar Land Rover (JLR) sales, homegrown auto major Tata Motors on Thursday reported a 74% jump in its June quarter (Q1FY25) consolidated profit at ₹5,566 crore as against ₹3,203 crore reported in the same quarter last year. Revenue from operations rose 5.7% year-on-year to ₹108,048 crore in the quarter.

The automaker's consolidated earnings before, interest, tax, depreciation, and amortisation (EBITDA) rose 19% YoY to ₹15,785 crore. The EBITDA margin remained flat at 14.6%. PB Balaji, Group CFO, Tata Motors, said, "The first quarter has carried forward the momentum of last year with all businesses continuing to deliver on their distinctive strategies. We are confident of sustaining the performance in the coming quarters and delivering a strong year."

It said global demand is likely to remain muted and they expect gradual improvement in domestic demand during the rest of the year on account of continued investments in infrastructure, healthy monsoons, favourable macros and festive demand. For Tata Motors, JLR revenues grew 5.4% to £7.3 billion with EBIT margins of 8.9% (+30 bps) driven by favourable volume, mix and material cost improvements. JLR's Q1 wholesales stood at 98,000, up 5% YoY and retails were at 1,11,000, up 9% YoY. The British luxury car brand said it has increased investment from £15 billion to £18 billion over five years to support the delivery of Reimagine strategy.

While commercial vehicle (CV) revenue grew 5.1% to ₹17,800 crore, passenger vehicle (PV) revenue fell 7.7% to ₹11,800 crore, reflecting the challenging market conditions. June quarter PV wholesales stood at 138,800 units (-1.1% YoY).

Shailesh Chandra, managing director TMPV and TPEM, said: "The PV industry in Q1 FY25 saw retails (registrations) moderating, impacted by the general elections and intense heat waves across the country...While the personal segment retail has grown for EVs, there was a sharp decline witnessed in the fleet segment. Going forward, we expect an improvement in overall sales on the back of the onset of the festive season and the launch of Curvv, India's first SUV Coupe."

Top 3 carmakers report decline in July sales

Even as original equipment manufacturers and showrooms are offering hefty discounts to lure vehicle buyers

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

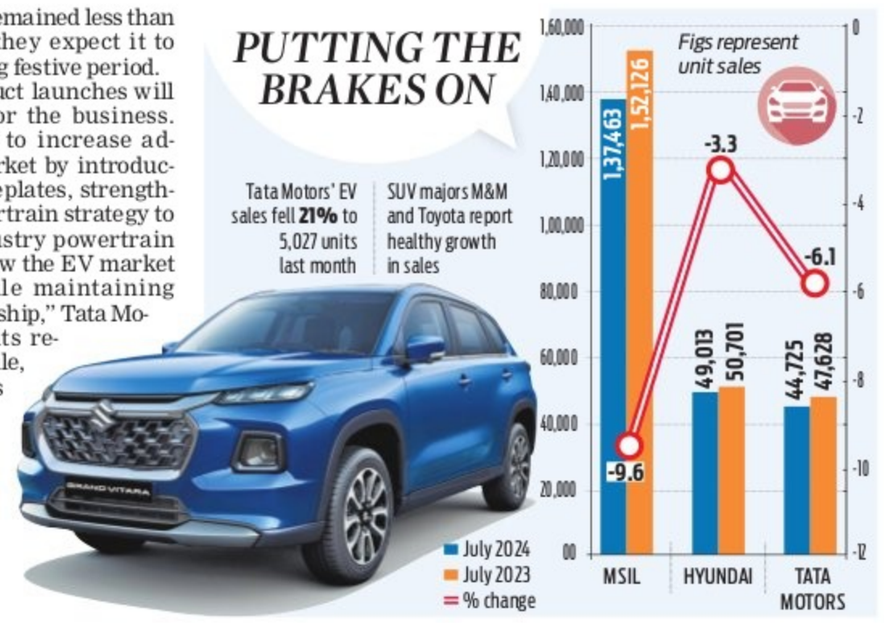
DESPITE partial relief from the intense heat wave and election fervour subsiding completely, passenger vehicle (PV) sales remained under pressure in July 2024 with the top 3 carmakers reporting a dip in sales. The fall comes even as original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) and deal showrooms are offering hefty discounts to lure buyers.

Domestic PV sales of Maruti Suzuki (MSIL), India's largest carmaker, fell 9.6% YoY to 137,463 units in July 2024 as against 152,126 units in the corresponding month last year. Not only in the mini and compact segment, but MSIL also registered a dip in its utility vehicles (UVs) sales. It sold 56,302 UVs in July 2024 as against 62,049 sold in July 2023.

IPO-bound Hyundai Motor India (MSIL) domestic sales fell 3.33% YoY to 49,013 units in July 2024 as against 50,701 units in July 2023. Tarun Garg, Wholetime director and chief operating officer, HMIL said, "SUVs continue to demonstrate a robust contribution, accounting for 66.6% of total HMIL domestic sales. The new Hyundai CRETA achieved key milestones of 1 lakh unit sales till July 2024, while also achieving highest ever monthly domestic sales of 17,350 units in July 2024."

Tata Motors' domestic PV sales fell 6% to 44,725 units in July 2024 from 47,628 units in July 2023. Its electric vehicle plummeted 21% to 5,027 units last month as demand from fleet operators dried up. The automaker said that although demand has remained less than anticipated, they expect it to pick up during festive period.

"New product launches will augur well for the business. Our focus is to increase addressable market by introducing new nameplates, strengthen multipowertrain strategy to leverage industry powertrain shifts and grow the EV market in India while maintaining market leadership," Tata Motors said in its result. Meanwhile, SUV majors Mahindra & Mahindra (M&M) and Toyota (TKM) continue to report healthy growth in sales.



AEL to transfer Wilmar stake to shareholders

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

PAVING the way for a potential stake sale, Adani Group flagship company - Adani Enterprises (AEL) - will transfer its stake in Adani Wilmar (AWL) to its shareholders.

AEL, at present, holds a 43.94% stake in Adani Wilmar through Adani Commodities LLP. Post the restructuring, the shareholders of AEL will directly own Adani Wilmar shares. Shareholders will receive 251 shares of Adani Wilmar for every 500 Adani Enterprises shares they hold.

"The food FMCG business and other businesses of the demerged company are capable of attracting a different set of investors, strategic partners, lenders and other stakeholders," said AEL in a statement. Adani Wilmar is a joint venture between the Adani Group and Singapore-based Wilmar Group.

It added, "There are also differences in the manner in which the Food FMCG Business and other businesses of the Demerged Company are required to be handled and managed. In order to lend greater/enhanced focus to the operation of the said businesses, it is proposed to reorganize and segregate the food FMCG business by way of demerger and transfer the same to the resulting company."

Following the demerger, the promoter stake in Adani Wilmar, including Wilmar International will be reduced to 76.7% from 87.8%. "This demerger is in line with AEL's incubation strategy, which includes demerging of the business once it is self-sustained and properly established. In the past, AEL has demerged businesses including Adani Green Energy, Adani Energy Solutions once they became self-sustaining," said the company.

No swift resolution of Infy GST issue; more cos may come under scrutiny

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE ₹32,000 crore GST notice to Infosys could impact most IT companies as they have a similar model as the Bengaluru-based company.

Experts say prima facie, this is a non-issue, and Infosys has a strong case in its favour in light of the clarification issued by the Central Board of Indirect taxes and Customs (CBIC). They, however, believe there is no swift resolution of the issue unless the GST Council decides to issue a clarification. Finance ministry sources have said no clarification is likely to come from the government as yet.

The GST department's argument is that though the contract was signed between the overseas customer and Infosys head office, it is the branch office that is executing the project, and therefore, the branch office is providing a service to the head office. So, the same should be treated as import of services, and accordingly Infosys should pay GST on a reverse charge mechanism (RCM) basis.

A recent clarification by the CBIC says cases where the foreign affiliate is providing certain services to the related domestic entity, and where full input tax credit is available to the said related entity, and if the invoice is not issued by the domestic entity for any service provided by the foreign affiliate to it, value of such services may be deemed to be declared as Nil.

Pune-based CA Pritam Mahure says in light of this clarification, it prima facie looks like a non-issue. However, he says if the company is not able to fully claim the input tax credit for expenses it incurred in operating overseas branch, there could be a case of tax demand. "We are not aware of the finer details of the case," he says. Mahure claims this is just the start of the issue and it can impact all IT companies.

Rajat Bose of Shardul Amarchand Mangaldas & Co says if Infosys has received tax notice overseas branches issue, most other IT companies are also likely to receive similar notices.

K'taka authorities withdraw pre-show cause notice

BENGALURU: Infosys on Thursday in a filing said Karnataka state authorities have withdrawn the pre-show cause notice and has directed the company to submit further response to DGGI (Directorate General of GST Intelligence) central authority on this matter. The state GST authorities issued a notice first on GST evasion and subsequently the company also received a notice from DGGI. Tax expert says the withdrawal of notice by the authorities is not going to give any relief to the company as the DGGI has also sent a notice to the company. As per GST law, a state and the Central GST authorities cannot send notice to an entity on the same issue, and therefore, the withdrawal of the notice by the state authorities is just a formality. ENS

Gross GST collection for July rises 10.3% to ₹1.82 lakh crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AFTER facing criticism for not officially announcing the monthly GST collection numbers in June, the government on Thursday announced the revenue figures for July 2024. The gross GST collection in July rose 10.3% to ₹1.82 lakh crore as against ₹1.65 lakh crore in the corresponding period last year. The GST revenue in June, as per government sources, was ₹1.74 lakh crore.

Gross revenue from domestic transactions was ₹1.34 lakh crore, up 8.9%. GST revenue on imports rose 14.4% to ₹48,039 crore. In the first four months of FY25, gross revenue has seen a 10.2% growth to ₹7.4 lakh crore.

"While the gross GST revenues have shown an rise of 10.3%, it is interesting to observe that the growth in GST mop-up from imports is more than that from domestic supplies. These collections are based on supply transactions during June 2024, which is typically a slow offtake month before the onset of the festive season," says MS Mani, Partner, Deloitte India. After deducting the refunds, net GST collection during the month rose 14.4% to ₹1.66 lakh crore. Net collection for the fiscal has been ₹6.6 lakh crore, up 11% over last year.

Many large states have seen a subdued growth in collection. Revenue in UP grew only 4%, Bihar, Tamil Nadu and Kerala saw 5% rise, Telangana saw a muted collection of 2%, while Andhra Pradesh registered a fall by 7%. However, Karnataka and Gujarat (13%), MP and Maharashtra (11% each) saw double-digit growth. Various media outlets reported that the government didn't want to publicise the growth in GST collections in fear of backlash from common people. However, GST department sources told TNIE that the government will now release the monthly GST numbers on a regular basis.

Firstcry sets public issue price band at ₹440-465

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

SOFTBANK, Ratan Tata and Sachin Tenudulkar-backed Firstcry; which claims to be the market leader in the ecommerce space catering to women and children, but has not made a single penny in profits in its 14 years of operations; has fixed the price band for its ₹4,200 crore issue at a hefty ₹440-465/piece.

The Pune-based ecommerce firm with a major offline presence with over 1,000 stores had been losing money since its inception in 2010 and had ₹321.51 crore net loss in FY24, down from ₹486 crore in FY23 when it had revenue of ₹6,481 crore and ₹5,632.5 crore, respectively.

The issue opens on August 6. The floor price is 220 times and the cap price is 232.5 times the face value of the shares for a company that's heavily in debt. Like in the case of Ola Electric, which is in IPO process now, because of the issue pricing some of the investors like Tata will gain manifold, others like Tendulkar and Rajan Pai on Manipal will lose heavily.

Firstcry parent Brainbees Solutions had first filed draft IPO papers with the Sebi last December but withdrew the draft papers after the capital markets regulator sought more clarity on key performance indicators (KPIs). Sebi had initially sought 25 KPIs of which the company could provide only five or six in its first set of filings.

Among individual selling shareholders, chief executive Supam Maheshwari who is one of the four founders, owns 5.95% in the company while Ratan Tata holds 0.02% in preference shares. Tata had bought 77,900 preference shares at a price of ₹84.72 a share, amounting to an investment of about ₹66 lakh some years back. Tata is a selling shareholder in the IPO and is sitting on over 5x gains on the basis of the offer's price band. Another big gainer is Mahindra & Mahindra, which owns 11%, with a 6x jump in the value of its holdings. Its average price of acquisition was ₹77.96 apiece.

The single-largest shareholder is Softbank with a little over 25%. Under 5%is owned by employees through Esops. Among the big losers in the IPO are Sachin Tendulkar and his wife Anjali who bought over 2 lakh shares last year at ₹487.44.

Hero Fincrop offers a diversified suite of financial products catering primarily to the retail, micro, small and medium enterprise customer segments as also home loans and insurance.

Zomato sees an opportunity to further expand its going-out offering, building on top of its dining-out business. The chief executive announced the launch of a new app 'District'.

"If we execute this well, we see going-out becoming the third large B2C business emerging out of Zomato," Goyal said.

China's Qinwen shocks Swiatek

Iga Swiatek lost to Zheng Qinwen of China 6-2, 7-5 in the Paris Olympics semifinals Thursday, a surprising setback for the champion at the French Open four of the past five years. Swiatek entered with a 6-0 edge in their head-to-head matchups, but suffered a shocking defeat.

AFTER FINISHING FOURTH ON MULTIPLE OCCASIONS IN THE PAST, SHOOTER KUSALE RISES TO THE OCCASION TO WIN INDIA'S THIRD MEDAL AT THE PARIS GAMES ON THURSDAY

KAMBALWADI village in Radhanagari Tehsil is some 30km away from Kolhapur. There are about 200 households in the 237-hectare place. It is just a speck in the district's map. It has a total population of about 987 people (according to 2011 census). Out of that 478 are female and 509 are male. Among those 500-odd males is one Swapnil Kusale, the one who gave a new identity to the place. The shooter bagged bronze for the country at the grandest of stages – the Paris 2024 Olympics. If someone has not heard about the village until now they will.

A thousand kilometres away, tucked away in the tranquil countryside of France at Chateauroux, a shooter from that nondescript village etched his name among the shooting greats of the country. After Manu Bhaker's air pistol and team along with Sarabjot Singh bronze medals – this is India's third medal. He became the first Indian shooter to reach the final in 3-position and the first to win a medal. This is the best-ever medal haul from shooting in one event. For a shooter who did not have his own rifle at one point a medal is more than just a surreal journey. It's a result of the collective belief of his family, coaches and all those who backed him. The 28-year-old was on his debut Olympics and was playing second fiddle to more established 3-position shooter Aishwary Pratap Singh Tomar.

Swapnil barely scraped through to the final finishing in the top eight during the qualifications at seventh place on Wednesday. When he came back on Thursday garbed in a shroud of invincibility at the same shooting ranges there was a complete transformation. He started shooting, kneeling, prone and standing in 50m three position (3P) there was silence within him.

When the bullets died down in staccato, he stood there with raising fists. Shooters are not known for theatrical celebrations. Blame it on controlling the adrenaline to steady the heart or their intense concentration to keep their hands still, their reactions remain muted. On Thursday, he was oblivious about his surroundings too. Considered a reticent person and a man of few words, Kusale said he was just concentrating on his shots; not even listening to what was being hollered in the PA system at range; even when he was fifth and then second, third, fourth, and back to third in the roller-coaster of a final.

"Heartbeat sabki badhti hai (everyone's heartbeat goes through roofs) and I was just focussing on my breath and tried to keep and shoot," he said in the mixed zone. Going into the final he had nothing to lose. There were pangs of nervousness and butterflies in his stomach before the final and did not eat much. He loves tea and had some black tea before the event. He finished fourth at the World Championships in 2022 where he also bagged India the all-important quota. "I didn't have anything (medal prospect) in my mind," he said. "All my hard work over the years, I just kept that in mind and shot, and didn't focus on the scores. I could hear the scores but did not pay heed to it." All he wanted to hear was the chants of the supporters who assembled in the faraway venue. "I just wanted to hear more from the supporters behind me and wanted to see them happy, so that kept me going."

Kusale attributed his rise to coach Deepali Deshpande's training. His career was shaped by the coach who he met after shifting to Pune. Then the duo collaborated into many successful chases. Since he started shooting in 2012 and was having too many fourth finishes. He felt that was because of a lack of experience and a strong will. "I was mentally fragile maybe," he would say. "Deepali mam really helped me and that changed my career."

Born into a teacher's family, Kusale and his brother were raised with a lot of discipline by his parents Suresh and Anita. A modest salary was not enough to support an expensive sport like shooting so there were occasional loans to fund his training and competition. His parents did not know anything about shooting all they had was faith in their son. They backed his passion. His father enrolled him in Krida Prabodhini — a scheme by the Government of Maharashtra for athletes to prosper. He was there at Sangli for one year to get himself physically fit and then shifted to Nashik. His tryst with the sport was during the Youth Games when he watched shooting on TV. "I started to learn the sport," he had said earlier. "My interest grew eventually and then I decided to take it up." He was in 9th standard when he shifted to Nashik Krida Prabodhini to focus on shooting at Bhonsala Military School.

The Indian shooting contingent came back from two consecutive Olympic campaigns with empty hands. With Kusale's success in Paris, they have turned that disappointment into an unprecedented number of medals in one discipline — three medals in shooting.

For Nikhat, a loss & an emotional end

INDRANEEL DAS @Paris

IT was a tale of two losses in Paris that will torment India for a while. If shooting has been a historic hunting ground for India, the boxing and badminton venues turned into a graveyard of hope for three of the biggest names on Thursday.

Nikhat Zareen lost her Round of 16 bout to China's Wu Yu. In the badminton hall, two of the most consistent shuttlers – Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty — failed to advance to the semifinals as they lost toMalaysia's Aaron Chia and Soh Wooi Yik.

Nikhat's right upper lip was swollen. There were bruises on her cheeks. Sweat all over her body. Eyes were moist. She was breathing heavy after the bout. She was stoic enough to not show her emotions at the mixed zone. There was too much pain in her, not because of the punches that landed on her. It was the loss that hurt her most. The way she was outclassed stung her more.

The failure to win her country a medal, which she kept reiterating while walking to the backstage, broke her. Unable to hold her myriad emotions boiling inside her, she started sobbing. Years of hard work and sacrifices vanished in those three rounds against a more agile, faster boxer. As she walked away, she was slowly picking up the pieces left behind by a shattered dream.

The Chinese boxer was fast and brutal. No matter what Nikhat threw at her, she could duck, weave away. Nikhat only managed to connect with air, especially in the final round. She admitted saying the Chinese was a better boxer.

India's Nikhat Zareen (R) lost to China's Wu Yu in Round of 16 match on Thursday | PTI

Billed as the next great thing after the legendary MC Mary Kom in Indian boxing, she had the first setback when she got one of the toughest draws. But in Olympics there are hardly any players to choose from. The best boxers qualify.

However, for Nikhat, it all started with seedings. Because of the fight between the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and the International Boxing Association (IBA), seedings were dependent on continental tournaments and not on the derecognised IBA's world championships. Despite being the world champion, she was just another player here. Her bronze at the Asian Games too did not count. Interestingly, Mary had beaten Wu 5-0 during the Worlds in 2018.

Didn't sleep on Wednesday

The draw was tough but Nikhat felt she was ready to face the challenge. Destiny works in mysterious ways. Maintaining weight has been the biggest concern. "I couldn't sleep last night because I hadn't eaten anything," she said. For weight category events like boxing and wrestling, this is one of the biggest challenges. "Mind was 24 hours active, thinking that I'll drink water, eat immediately after weigh-in. If I had won the bout and said this, people would appreciate it. Since I have lost, people will say it's an excuse. But honestly, I couldn't sleep last night, you can check my data."

Whether the mind was preoccupied or lack of strategy, despite making a comeback in the second round, she seemed listless in the final round. Her punches were frail and her feet seemed heavy. She was not moving around the canvas like she is known to. Nikhat started off well in the first round but the swift punches and movement of the Chinese boxer threw her off the track. "I was boxing her for the first time and I did not know how she fights," she said later. "I will learn from this experience and become a better boxer." But her first Olympics has slipped out. Nikhat's career had always been strewn with challenges. She had to wrestle for her place in a team that had Mary. She was against the rope literally and had to challenge one of the most successful Indian sportspersons. Yet she did. Every fall hardened her, every punch made her stronger. Now that Mary is ineligible for the Olympics because of her age, Nikhat has made this 50kg weight category her own.

It's still uncertain whether boxing will find its way in the LA 2028 programme but Nikhat would aspire to be part of it. She said she would work hard, be it in sport or in life. "First of all, to get here itself I've had to make a lot of sacrifices," she said. "I am grateful that I got this opportunity after so much of hard work. And I'm glad that if I lost, I lost to a top seed and the world champion. No regrets. Next Olympics, 2028, nothing is confirmed about boxing. But I will continue to work hard, be it in boxing or in life."

For now she would want to take a break. "I am really exhausted mentally and physically and I need this break," she said, vowing to learn from her mistakes and make a comeback. Whenever she comes back, she will not be the same Nikhat.

Portrait of a struggle: Sindhu ousted in pre-quaterfinals

INDRANEEL DAS @Paris

THE most poignant scene in all of sport is to see a player toiling to stay afloat. The other day at Roland Garros, the tragic image of Rafael Nadal struggling would remain etched in many fans' hearts. Plagued by injuries, his aging body was not responding to the mind.

In the Porte de la Chapelle hall, it may not resemble Nadal, but had traces of it. Two former Olympic medallists were playing on the two opposite sides of the hall. Rio Olympic gold medallist Carolina Marin on Court 1. On Court 3, it was Rio silver-medallist PV Sindhu. Marin is 31 years old and Sindhu 29 (in badminton, 30 is considered to be to old). This could well be their last Games and both know. Yet both seemed a bit slow.

While Marin after losing the first game against Zhang Beiwen made a comeback and won the match, Sindhu failed against China's He Bingjiao 19-21, 14-21 and crashed out in the last 16 of the women's singles event on Thursday. Her hopes of a three-peat was crushed in 56 minutes. Overall, it was heartbreak all over the badminton arena. About three hours before Sindhu, India's brightest hopes of a medal, Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty, crashed out in the quarters (Lakshya Sen beat HS Prannoy in an all-India Round of 16 affair).

The result seemed inevitable. Bingjiao controlled the drift and pace of the game right from the first game. Though Sindhu did show glimpses of her past to claw back in the first game, it was not enough to close out. The aging limbs were not taking command from the brain and every return seemed rushed and shots seemed a wee bit slow. And when Bingjiao hit, the shuttle seemed to fly a tad too fast to Sindhu. The first game had moments. Though the scores seemed close, the game wasn't as Bingjiao was in the lead most of the time. The second seemed to be just a formality.

PV Sindhu reacts during the match against He Bingjiao on Thursday | PTI

Sindhu admitted as much during the post match briefing in the mixed zone. "It's sad that I couldn't convert it to a win, especially in the first game, because it was-19 all at some point," she said after the match. She felt that if she had won the first game, things would have been different. It may well have been but in the world of sports, there is no room for supposition.

The smart work Sindhu had been talking about deserted her. "I should have controlled my mistakes is what I felt in the second game, because I gave her a huge lead," she said. I should have controlled the mistakes on my defence." She was troubled by Bingjiao's smashes too but what Sindhu rued were the missed smashes from the middle of the court that went out.

Though she is out of the Olympics, she has not thought about the next Olympics right now. As of now she would love to take a break. "I just (want to) go back and rest for a bit. Maybe just take some break and then come back and let's see what it is because four years is a very, very long time." Injury too has been a concern for her and the last year had not been the best either. Yet she felt she had worked hard.

Sindhu need not be disheartened at all. When she sits down and reflects on her past, she would see those two shining medals dangling in the closet and inside her heart. She has done what no Indian shuttler has done – win two Olympic medals.

Disappointing day for India's medal hopes

AGENCIES @Paris

WHILE Thursday itself dawned with very positive news from the shooting ranges in Chateauroux, as the day progressed, India's medal hopes came down.

From the boxing arena, Nikhat Zareen, facing China's Wu Yu in the women's 50kg category, lost 0-5. In hockey, the men's team suffered a narrow 1-2 loss against Belgium.

But the first big piece of disappointment ironically came from Chateauroux itself after Sift Kumar Samra and Anjum Moudgil failed to advance to the final of the women's 50m rifle 3 positions. Sift, a medal contender after some dazzling pre-tournament performances, failed to get going and eventually finished second last (575-22x) in the qualification process. In a precision sport, however, form need not be a necessary criteria and so it proved.

In the first two stages, kneeling and prone, the writing was on the wall when the Asian Games gold medallist had shot 382. Even as the leaders had shot upwards of 388, the 22-year-old was struggling.

Get. Set. Go...

Athletics, the glamour event at any multi-discipline Games, began on Thursday. A full programme is set to start on Friday. A look at some of the must-watch events...

100m | Men

Noah Lyles is the favourite to win gold but there are a fair few who can challenge the popular and charismatic US athlete. Jamaica's Kishane Thompson has become a late bolter for this event. Italy's surprise winner from 2021, Lamont Marcell Jacobs, is an outsider at this moment.

400m H | Women

The longer of the two hurdles hasn't necessarily enjoyed this much attention but it's a golden moment for the discipline in both genders. While the men has a cracking trio, the women's event features a bubbling but one-sided rivalry between world-record holder Sydney McLaughlin and Femke Bol.

High jump | Women

There's Yaroslava Mahuchikh, a wide gap and the rest. The queen of women's high-jumping has owned the field in a very uncommon manner and if, as expected, she wins gold, it will be a special gold for Ukraine.

Javelin | Men

From an Indian perspective, Neeraj Chopra will aim to defend his gold from 2021. While he has been solid, there are others in the field capable of throwing more than him but are less consistent. Czechia's Jakub Vadlejch is a big rival while Pakistan's fit-again Arshad Nadeem has explosive abilities.

PINTADO, YANG WALK AWAY WITH GOLD: Ecuador's Brian Pintado and China's Yang Jiayu won the first two gold on offer in athletics. It was Ecuador's second Olympic title in the event after Jefferson Perez's gold medal at the 1996 Games. Yang is the 4th Chinese woman to win the Oly title in the seven times they has featured at the Games.

Italy's Angela Carini (R) abandoned the bout against Algeria's Imane Khelif (L) after taking a few hard punches in the women's 66kg preliminary match on Thursday | AP

WOMAN BOXER AT HEART OF GENDER ROW WINS BOUT IN 46s

IMANE Khelif of Algeria won her opening boxing bout on Thursday when opponent Angela Carini of Italy quit after just 46 seconds. Khelif was disqualified from the 2023 world championships after failing an unspecified gender eligibility test, and her presence at the Paris Olympics has become a divisive issue.

Carini and Khelif had only a few punch exchanges before Carini abandoned the bout, an extremely unusual occurrence in Olympic boxing. Carini's headgear apparently became dislodged twice before she quit, and an emotional Carini didn't shake Khelif's hand after the decision was announced, but cried in the ring on her knees.

Afterward, a tearful Carini said that she quit because of intense pain in her nose after the opening punches. Carini, who had a spot of blood on her trunks, said she wasn't making a political statement and was not refusing to fight Khelif.

Carini further said she is not qualified to judge whether Khelif should be allowed to compete but had no problem fighting Khelif. Khelif is an accomplished amateur who won a silver medal at the International Boxing Association's 2022 world championships. The same governing body disqualified her from last year's championships shortly before her gold-medal match because of what it claimed were elevated levels of testosterone. The 25-year-old entered the ring at the North Paris Arena to a chorus of cheers, but the crowd was confused by the bout's sudden end.

Khelif and Lin Yu-ting of Taiwan have suddenly received massive scrutiny for their presence in Paris after years of amateur competition. Lin won IBA world championships in 2018 and 2022, but the governing body stripped her of a bronze medal last year because it claimed she failed to meet unspecified eligibility requirements in a biochemical test.

The Algerian Olympic Committee issued a statement on Wednesday condemning what it termed "lies" and "unethical targeting and maligning of our esteemed athlete, Imane Khelif, with baseless propaganda from certain foreign media outlets." Lin begins her Paris run on Friday, fighting Uzbekistan's Sitora Turdibekova in her opening bout after receiving a first-round bye. Khelif and Lin are two-time Olympians who fought in the Tokyo Games and were comfortably beaten with no controversy. Lin has been an elite-level amateur boxer for a decade and Khelif for six years. They were allowed to compete in Paris by the IOC task force, which has run the past two Olympic boxing tournaments. The IOC on Tuesday defended their right to compete. Olympic boxing reached gender parity for the first time this year, with 124 men and 124 women competing in Paris. "Everyone competing in the women's category is complying with the competition eligibility rules," IOC spokesperson Mark Adams said. "They are women in their passports and it's stated that this is the case, that they are female."

But the IOC said it made its eligibility decisions on boxers based on the gender-related rules that applied at the 2016 Rio de Janeiro Olympics. The IOC is in charge of boxing in Paris because the IBA has been banned from the past two Olympics because of years of governance problems, a lack of financial transparency and many perceived instances of corruption in judging and refereeing. The IOC has revoked the Olympic status of the IBA, which is controlled by president Umar Kremlev, who is Russian. He brought in Russian state-owned Gazprom as its primary sponsor and moved much of the IBA's operations to Russia. Women's boxers have been asked about Khelif and Lin repeatedly this week. Many have expressed concern, while others have urged more consideration of an obviously complicated issue. AP

Focus shifts to 50-over format

With India taking on Sri Lanka in the first ODI on Friday, a look at key talking points...

ROHIT, KOHLI RETURN TO ACTION

After the high of T20 World Cup triumph, Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma return to the team for ODIs. It will be one of the two series they get to play before the Champions Trophy later next year. And captain Rohit has made it clear that it is time to move on and plan for what lies ahead.

INJURY ISSUES FOR SRI LANKA

Having already missed Dushmantha Chameera and Nuwan Thushara, Sri Lanka's injury woes only go up with Matheesha Pathirana and Dilshan Madushanka ruled out of ODIs. Pathirana has picked up a shoulder issue while Madushanaka has injured his hamstring. It will be an uphill task for Charith Asalanka's bowling attack

ALL EYES ON SHREYAS, RAHUL

Shreyas Iyer and KL Rahul have been integral part of India's ODI set up in the last 18 months. However, since the ODI WC, both have not been a regular in the team. And with the return of Rishabh Pant, it will be interesting to see how the middle-order looks. Chance of Shivam Dube and Washington Sundar playing are also there with Axar Patel being the other all-rounder.

Rohit, Gambhir take fresh guard in Sri Lanka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

INDIA might have swept Sri Lanka 3-0 in the shortest format, but come Friday, they will have to start fresh with the senior pros, including captain Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli, back in the mix. For the skipper, and the newly-appointed head coach Gautam Gambhir, a new partnership begins as it will be the first time they work together in their respective roles for the Indian team.

Rohit, however, isn't worried as much as he explained what lies ahead on the eve of the first ODI. "I have known Gambhir for a very long time and we have played a little bit of cricket together. He has a very clear mind and knows what he wants from the team," he said, before adding, "Basically, our chats have centred around what the team needs, what are our shortcomings, where have we done well etc. It was a discussion on how to take the team forward. But we don't want to plan too far ahead. We are here for three games, and the idea is to take something back from these three games, and learn how we want to play and what we want to achieve in ODI cricket."

Rohit reiterated that maintaining the standard of Indian cricket and everything else comes after. "At the end of the day, the standard of Indian cricket is more important and while doing that if you lose a game then it is absolutely fine. You are still trying to do something different and you are not compromising on the standard. We are a sports team, a cricket team, and we should also be allowed to lose while we are trying to do things differently. We want to achieve something out of every series or game we play, but not at the cost of not showing intent or purpose," he said.

India emerging as largest market for Meta AI usage

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

INDIA is becoming the largest market for Meta AI usage, according to Meta CFO Susan Li. During the company's earnings call on Wednesday, Li also mentioned that people have used Meta AI for billions of queries since its introduction. "We're seeing particularly promising signs on WhatsApp in terms of retention and engagement, which has coincided with India becoming our largest market for Meta AI usage," she said.

Meta AI is now available in over 20 countries and eight languages. In the US, the company is rolling out new features like Imagine Edit, which allows people to edit images generated with Meta AI. Beyond generative AI, the company also shared that the Threads community continues to grow and deepen engagement as new features are shipped and content recommendation systems are enhanced. The US technology giant announced its generative AI chatbot assistant at the Meta Connect event in 2023. It subsequently started rolling out in India in June 2024 across WhatsApp, Facebook, Instagram, and Messenger. In other markets like Australia, Canada, and New Zealand, Meta AI has been available since April 2024.

The same month, Meta AI was upgraded with the new Llama 3 model, which can manage daily tasks such as writing emails, summarising texts, and translations. Last week, Meta announced the new Llama 3.1 model, the latest version of Meta's open-source large language model (LLM).

Meta claims Llama 3.1 has already surpassed ChatGPT's latest model in performance. Meta is preparing to train Llama 4, which Zuckerberg wants to be the "most advanced" model in the industry when released sometime next year. It will require almost 10 times more compute power than Llama 3.1. The company mentioned its ongoing investment in core AI capacity is informed by strong returns seen and expected in the future.
